Pink, Shiny Toes.
The Little Birds.
Alas, Poor Bears.
Moral Russia.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

IMPORTANT news from Palm Beach, where prosperity gets its coat of winter tan. Ladies, "the very nicest," walk on the beach in silk pajamas, wearing sandals, no stockings. The sandals reveal their little toes, and these toes are manicured, the nails nicely rounded, beautifully polished.

Carlyle could have written about that.

THERE is good in everything, and manicured toes will be good for the feet of generations to come. Women having spent ages squeezing their feet, almost eliminating the little toe, will now realize that a foot to be beautiful must be treated intelligently.

THE pleasures of our "upper classes" at Palm Beach will interest future historians. At one party six clowns drove tiny pigs and another exhibited the smallest living mule, named "Spark Plug." That was intellectually most diverting.

THEN there came a "tacky" party, all trying to look poor, wearing rags and tags, cheap cotton and calico dresses. And how they did laugh as they saw each other. Marie Antoinette dressed herself in the clothes of a shepherdess and pretended to be a little milkmaid in her Little Trianon. That was dangerous in old France, because the French royal "tacky party" actually ruled France.

Palm Beach's tacky party only rules Palm Beach.

IN AN old fable little birds in the wheat field were worried. They heard the farmer's son say, "We must cut that wheat tomorrow." The mother bird said, "Don't worry."

But when the farmer himself said, "We must cut that wheat tomorrow," the mother bird moved her little brood.

WALL STREET speculators paid little attention to Federal Reserve gentlemen, solemn bankers and others saying, "You are gambling too much in Wall Street; you will suffer if you persist."

But now that Farmer Mellon, boss farmer of high finance, says Wall Street ought to be careful, perhapse Wall Street will listen.

BEARS bit the dust in Wall Street yesterday, and bit it hard. Stocks went up from 5 to 10 points. The worm turned and "call money" cost only 7 per cent, while time money, for "legitimate business," cost 8 per cent.

How long business can thrive on a usury basis remains to be seen.

WE READ that in Russia young people expel from their association a boy or girl guilty of indecent jazz dancing in public, also boys and girls guilty of public flirtation, and this "up-to-date" nation laughs.

IT NEED not laugh. If Russia takes life and decency seriously, and we do not, Russia will win, and we shall lose.

The loose court of Charles I laughed at the stiff-necked Puritans. But they chopped off Charles' head, established themselves in New England, and accomplished a good deal. Cromwell, their leader, inspired fear after he had been dead for years.

DWIGHT B. HEARD, of Arizona, who died yesterday, went to Arizona a young man to find health. Arizona gave it to him, and he gave to Arizona tremendous energy and unlimited devotion for nearly 30 years.

The state has lost a powerful citizen, and the Arizona Republican an energetic, able publisher.

MR. STIMSON, secretary of state, says putting a tax on Philippine importation would be "following the policy of George III with the tea tax."

While the Philippines are United States territory, it is not probable that any tariff wall will be raised. But it is useful to remind Filipino friends that the independence they seem to crave would certainly mean a tariff.

AND there is this question: What would happen if a little later ten or twenty million Asiatics in the Philippines should be working at Asiatic wages, in Filipino factories and plantations, in competition with American labor, on a free trade basis?

PROF. CARD, of Philadelphia, says women will soon wear dresses made of asbestos, fireproof, shiny as silk, more durable than any cloth, easily cleaned with a wet cloth, costing less than other materials.

ALL interesting, but women probably won't wear asbestos.

Imitation pearls are as handsome as real pearls. Synthetic rubies and sapphires are made exactly like the real. But woman insists on having the real.

ACCORDING to grand jury investigations in New York, where 13 are indicted, a rum syndicate has a fleet of ships, with expert buyers abroad.

Perhaps the "five and ten penalty," five years in jail, $10,000 fine, may discourage this. Probably not.

BOND SWINDLE GANG'S LEADER NEAR ARREST

By FRANK SHENKEL,
Staff Correspondent.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., March 16.—William Boven, of Buffalo, the alleged leader of a gang of international holdup men and bond swindlers, today was almost within the grasp of Pittsburgh detectives who already had arrested a Clarksburg businessman as the fifth suspect in the gang's deals.

Through the Clarksburg man, Harry B. Ober, 45, a shoe merchant, the Pittsburgh sleuths learned that Boven is hiding in a small town near here. His arrest within a few hours was expected.

TIP IN PITTSBURGH

Ober was arrested last night on a tip which apparently came to detectives from Mannie Steinberg, film salesman, in whose automobile $77,500 worth of the bonds were recovered when Steinberg was arrested in Pittsburgh Tuesday.

SPRING STORM DOES DAMAGE

A hail storm lashed the Ohio valley last night. Lightning flashed through a murky sky. Along the highways, motorists reported, an accustomed car could detect for the first time this year the sound of frogs that would acourting go tuning up for a serenade.

These certain signs of spring's unequivocal arrival were accompanied by a recession in the rivers, which removed any current danger of flood. The Point stage this morning was 20.6 feet and falling slightly.

The hail which fell along the Ohio broke windows in most of the riverside boroughs from Ambridge to Avalon. Sewickley Heights was reported to have been hardest hit.

SHOOTS HERSELF AT PARTY

5,000 ON ROOF TOPS TRAPPED

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 16.—Five thousand persons are hanging on to the highest roofs in Geneva, Ala., for their lives, while swirling waters that have submerged all one-story buildings cut wide torrents across the town, reports received here today said.

A radiogram from an Army observation plane over Geneva received by the Twenty-second Observation Squadron here, said:

"The people at Geneva are working in boats and the situation looks bad."

Forty-five minutes later another message was received from another plane flying over Geneva. It read:

"Situation looks worse at Geneva than at Elba. Majority of the houses and stores at Geneva are already covered with water."

Five planes from Roberts Field, Birmingham, Ala., and 18 from Maxwell Field, Montgomery, Ala., were soaring over the stricken area of Georgia, Alabama and adjacent states, dropping food and medical supplies.

RISK LIVES FOR FOOD

The first planes back reported men diving from housetops into swirling waters, risking their lives, to capture bundles of foodstuffs dropped by the planes.

From the Atlantic seaboard westward to the swollen Mississippi, the Southeast today presented an appalling cyclorama of death and destruction.

Twenty-six persons are known to be dead in the southeastern sector, millions of dollars' damage to property, something like 20,000 homeless and suffering from exposure and hunger and probably many hundreds drowned whose bodies will not be discovered until the flood waters recede.

ARMY FLIER ON WAY TO PANAMA

Capt. Eaker took off here at 4:03 o'clock.

Flying the Pan American, first model of the new Army P-12 pursuit plane to be tested, Capt. Eaker hoped to reach Colon by 7 o'clock tonight. The plane is capable of a speed of 188 miles an hour. His schedule calls for an average speed of 135 miles an hour including five stops for refueling.

The first scheduled stops were at Tampico and Minatitlan, Mexico, where United States Army planes have been sent to facilitate servicing of the ship. Other stops were Guatemala City, Guatemala; Managua, Nicaragua, and David, Panama.

Capt. Eaker carried diplomatic mail including letters of felicitations from the American government to officials of the four countries on his route.

Man Shoots Children And Wife, Kills Self

FITCHBURG, Mass., March 16.—(INS.) — Suddenly going insane, Charles H. Scott, an electrician, early today shot and killed his 9-year-old daughter, Elizabeth, wounded his 6-year-old son, Richard, his 11-year-old son, Charles, and his wife and then took his own life.

The shooting occurred in the Scott home here a short time after the father and children had returned from church. Mrs. Scott stepped in front of a bullet intended for Charles H., Jr.

Doctors Find Foch Slowly Weakening

PARIS, March 16.—(AP.)—Nine doctors who have attended Marshal Foch in his illness met for consultation at his bedside this morning and said at the conclusion of their conference that though he was "in no immediate peril" he was gradually weakening.

His two months' illness has slowly sapped his strength, they said. One of them said that he had undergone neither great setback nor shown any permanent improvement during the last three weeks. His heart, it was said, however, was "not so strong as it was."

HEIRESS BRIDE OF CLERK

NEW YORK, March 16.—(AP.)—The New York American today carried an announcement of the marriage of Mrs. Barbara Guggenheim Lawson-Johnston, heiress to one of the largest fortunes in America, to Fred Wettach, Jr., of Deal, N. J., a sweetheart of her childhood, employed as a clerk.

Mrs. Wettach is 25 years old and became acquainted with her husband when the Guggenheims had a home at Elberon, N. J., not far from Deal, where Mr. Wettach Sr. conducted a riding academy. The two young people soon became friends and often rode together about Elberon.

NEW YORK, March 16—"If you think Harry K. Thaw ever bit a girl, you're crazy. He is living a fairly quiet life these days, practicing philanthropy in private, and making quite a reputation in Wall Street."

All this and the possible cause of Thaw's "eccentric" reputation were revealed exclusively today to International News Service by former Police Inspector William O. Dannenberg, of Chicago. Dannenberg has been confidential man to Harry K. these seven or eight years and claims to know him better than his tailor.

TRIAL OPENS TOMORROW

Of course, Marcia Estardas, known as Mae O'Neill, doesn't agree with Dannenberg. She is suing Thaw for $100,000, claiming he not only bit her but "Paddywhacked" her with a hairbrush at a New Year's Eve party. The trial begins Monday, the jury already having been chosen.

VALLEY TOWNS IN CIVIC DRIVE

Plans for a chamber of commerce representing Verona, Oakmont and Blawnox boroughs, Harmarville, Indianola, Penn and Plum townships and adjacent territory were formulated at a public meeting in the Moose Temple, Universal, last night.

A prize of $25 was offered for a suitable name for the proposed organization. A name is desired that will be descriptive of the whole section concerned.

W. J. Donough, president of the W. J. Donough Company, lumber dealers and builders, of Verona, presided at the meeting and explained its purpose. He said the various communities could accomplish more by co-operation than through individual effort, and that while it was not undesirable that there should be friendly rivalry among them in some matters they should pull together in projects intended to benefit the whole section. KIDNAPING CASE GOES TO JURY

By AL GOUGH,
Staff Correspondent.

WOOSTER, O., March 16.—The fate of Elias Arnold and his son, Arthur Arnold, charged with kidnaping in connection with the disappearance of 4-year-old Melvin Horst from his home in Oreville December 27, was placed in the hands of the jury today.

Judge George Starn, in his charge to the jury, consumed only 15 minutes.

"First, ladies and gentlemen, you must be satisfied from the evidence you have heard that a crime has been committed in this case before you can render a verdict," he said. "It is not necessary to produce the victim of the crime—the charge is basically that of theft, and as is often the case, the article stolen is not produced at the trial. The law, however, requires that intent be shown and it is up to you as a jury to determine this."

BABY FATALLY BURNED AT FIRST BIRTHDAY PARTY

Today there is only grief in the Barry home at 2128 Jonquil way, where yesterday all was happiness.

Yesterday was Jean's first birthday. Today Jean is dead.

Youngest of five, Jean was one year old and the object of much attention from her elder brothers and sisters, all children of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Barry.

Jean was the queen and as such deserved the homage of her elders. From her figurative throne she watched her subjects entertain her. And then a match was lighted. A paper burst into flame.

The unsullied white of Jean's birthday dress curled into ashes of black. A shrieking auto hurried Jean to St. Joseph's Hospital. As the dawn crawled over the skies today, Jean, aged 1, died.

MAN HELD AS GAIETY ENDS

A birthday party in a Pitcairn home broke up today when an attractive divorcee, whose birthday it was, shot herself, county detectives reported.

A man described by Detective Chief George W. Murren as a close friend of the victim was taken into custody pending an investigation.

The divorcee, Leah Smith, whose maiden name also was Smith, is in Braddock General Hospital, a bullet wound in her body and her twenty-eighth birthday past.

While the party was at its height Mrs. Smith left her merry-making friends and went to the otherwise empty parlor and a minute later a shot rang out. It happened in the home of her brother, William Smith, at 472 Second street. Detectives said Smith was not present.

Murren admitted that there was no evidence to indicate that the man being held was involved in the shooting and said he was merely being detained until the investigation established the wound as self-inflicted.

Mrs. Smith is expected to recover.

LINDY ON NEW MYSTERY TRIP

MIDLAND, Tex., March 16. — (AP) — The whereabouts of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who landed unexpectedly here from Brownsville yesterday for his fourth visit in a year to the municipal airport, was unknown here early today. After refueling, Lindbergh took off for the West, first asking about landing fields in that direction. He did not give his destination. He wore a parachute.

Flier Forced Down In Mud, Slightly Hurt

HARRISBURG, March 16.—(AP.)—Joseph J. Watson, a salesman, of Milwaukee, Wis., escaped with a slightly injured knee yesterday when fog forced him to make a landing in his airplane at Lewisberry. Watson had left Pittsburgh at 2:30 for Philadelphia when fog became so dense he had to land on a muddy piece of farm land. Except for a broken propeller the plane escaped serious damage.

Tired of School Life, Boys Leave Home

Three young boys who have been missing from their homes in Richeyville, Pa., were being sought here today by police and Luke Decteroff, father of one of the boys. It was believed that the boys, John Decteroff, Henry Pencheck and Chester Rodosky, each about 12, had grown tired of school work.

KELLY PROPOSES PLANES DROP MAILS IN TOWNS

WASHINGTON, March 16.—(AP.)—The tossing off of sacks of mail at the various cities along the air mail routes from airplanes while in flight is the next step of development proposed for the service.

Representative Kelly (Rep.), Pennsylvania, said today that he has prepared for introduction at the regular session of the new Congress a measure which would provide for such a practice. In his opinion the distribution of mail from the flying planes would not only increase the speed of delivery of the postal matter, but would greatly stimulate the use of the air mail.

In his bill Mr. Kelly, sponsor of most of the legislation that has created and developed the air mail, proposes the placing of a mail clerk on the plane to perform this duty. The clerk would distribute the mail for the different cities and towns along the line of flight into bags so that they could be tossed off the plane as it passed over the place.

The Postoffice Department, Mr. Kelly declared, is perfecting a device to handle the dropped mail bag. It would consist of a tall steel pole on the top of which would be a hook to catch the sack, with a net a few feet below to catch it if the hook should be missed.

Another method of speeding up the air mail—devices to permit the picking up of mail bags by a flying plane—it being studied by the aviation companies, Mr. Kelly said.

With the speeding up of the air mail, he estimated that within a year or two at least 10 per cent of the country's mail would be flown.

U. S. INDICTS DOCTOR IN DOPE WAR

By A. M. ROCHLEN,
Staff Correspondent.

LOS ANGELES, March 16.—Dr. I. Jesse Citron, of Beverly Hills, yesterday formally was accused by the federal grand jury of illegally supplying narcotic drugs under the guise and protection of a state license to practice medicine.

The young physician, widely known in Los Angeles and Hollywood, was charged with 20 violations of the Harrison narcotic act in prescribing deadly, habit-forming drugs to Miss Alma Rubens, beautiful film star and wife of Ricardo Cortez

FAKE NAMES CHARGED

In a 40-page indictment voted by the grand jury, the fashionable doctor was accused of prescribing the drugs in violation of the law under fictitious names, as well as under his alleged victim's own name.

The federal action, coming after several weeks of investigation of unscrupulous doctors and conscienceless practices, is believed to be the initial act in the present campaign to stamp out drug addiction flourishing under protection of the law.

BOND SET AT $5,000

Dr. Citron, according to the indictment, began issuing the alleged unlawful prescriptions in September, 1928. The names of four different persons were written into some of these prescriptions, without their knowledge or consent, the government charged.

Bond for the accused physician was set at $5,000. Mark Herron, Dr. Citron's attorney, said that this sum will be furnished today, when his client appears before United States Commissioner David B. Head for arraignment.

The dope prescriptions said to have been fraudulently and feloniously issued by Dr. Citron frequently were dated at only one or two days' intervals.

$1,300 COLLECTED

State investigators, who obtained the first evidence in the case and turned it over to the federal agents, stated in their reports that Dr. Citron's own books showed charges of nearly $1,300 for five weeks' treatment, at an average of $50 a "visit." The officers declared that they uncovered a prescription for practically every visit, and that on some days two prescriptions were written for the victim.

At the time charges made against Dr. Citron first were made public through the investigation of state and Federal officials, the physician denied that he violated the Harrison narcotic act or was guilty of any unlawful intent. After the investigation widened, the doctor refused to make any further statements, claiming that he could not reveal "relations between physician and patient."

DOPE NOW 'BIG BUSINESS'

WASHINGTON, March 16.—So amazingly profitable has dope trafficking become that it can be classed in the category of big business.

But it's even more. In the words of Representative Porter (R.), of Pennsylvania, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, it's an "institution" peculiar to twentieth century America.

There are approximately 25 known dope rings, or syndicates, thriving throughout the country at the expense of the misery and heartbreaks of thousands of addicts. Their intricate business organization and profits would shame an ordinary commercial organization.

It is through the agents of these syndicates, operating defiantly against established law and order, that virtually all the illicit drugs are smuggled into the United States from Europe and Asia. The rings, nationwide in scope, have agents abroad buying the stuff. It is shipped to the country concealed in legitimate merchandise.

It is admitted by Federal enforcement officials that drugs valued at millions of dollars are smuggled annually. The government admits it captures but few of the shipments.

Once in the country, the dope is shipped by express and automobile transportation to various strategic centers where the syndicates maintain headquarters. From these sources it goes into the hands of peddlers to be sold at random to addicts.

BAR COUNTS VOTES TODAY ON ORPHANS' COURT JUDGE

Votes are being counted today in the Allegheny County Bar Association's expression on candidates for appointment as judge of the Orphans' Court to fill the vacancy created by the recent death of President Judge J. J. Miller.

Almost every lawyer member of the Bar Association, some 1,650 in all, has voted for one or another of the 12 qualified candidates during the last week and the sealed ballots have been piling up in the Bar Association headquarters on the ninth floor of the City-County Building.

A similar election was conducted for the nine candidates for judge two years ago. The result of the present election will be forwarded to Gov. John S. Fisher, who has indicated that he will be glad to have an expression from the bar in connection with the appointment.

WALKS TO GET AUTOGRAPHS

JOSEPH F. MIKULEC PUSHING HIS ENORMOUS AUTOGRAPH BOOK
Milkulec, Philadelphian for 28 years a globe-trotter, has collected more than 200,000 autographs and stopped in Pittsburgh to have Mayor Kline and others sign his book.

TRAVELER HERE ON NAME HUNT

Joseph F. Mikulec, of Philadelphia, whose mania for collecting autographs has made him a globe-trotter for 28 years, has invaded Pittsburgh for more autographs for his collection of over 200,000. He sought out Mayor Charles H. Kline and other city officials who promptly added their signatures to those of three crowned heads of Europe, the presidents of 10 republics, Benito Mussolini, Citizen Calvin Coolidge and Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

BOOK IN PUSHCART

Mikulec's book of autographs is a formidable volume. It weighs 56 pounds and has 2,000 pages. He uses a modified baby carriage to take it from one celebrity to another and from town to town.

The globe-trotting autograph hunter has traveled through 30 countries, mostly on foot. Twice he hiked from coast to coast and a dozen times he worked his way to Europe and South America.

MUSSOLINI HEADS LIST

In France, Marshal Foch, Premier Briand and Minister of War Painleve affixed their signatures to the book. Mussolini and Gabriele d'Annunzio, the poet, head the lisht. Albert, King of the Belgians, also signed.

Mikulec said his collection is priceless. "I shall never sell it, but hope to have it placed in a museum some day," he added.

He intends to retire to a farm in the near future, where he will write a book on his travels and experiences as an autograph hunter.

FORNEY MAY BE IN CANADA

Everything and everybody are in readiness for the trial of Alfred Forney in Criminal Court on Monday—that is, everybody but Forney.

Forney, charged in 15 counts with maintaining gambling devices, didn't appear last Monday when his trial was called, and Judge James B. Drew continued the case for one week. Forney's counsel, Hiram D. Hirsh, was instructed to produce the missing defendant.

But Forney hasn't been found. He hasn't been traced beyond the Roosevelt Hotel in New York, which he left 10 days ago while presumably ill.

There were unverified reports today that Forney was in Canada.

HARRISBURG, March 16.—(AP.)—W. H. Williams made application to the Public Service Commission yesterday to operate a toll bridge over the Youghiogheny River at Jacobs Creek, Westmoreland County.

DRIVERS SEIZED, DRY AGENT DELIVERS RUM TO LEGATION

WASHINGTON, March 16.—(AP.)—The Siamese legation today is in full—and legal—possession of its annual 60 cases of choice liquor and wines. Prohibition authorities are in possession of a five-ton Baltimore truck which brought it to Washington and spent the night stuck in the moist soil of the legation's back yard.

District of Columbia law enforcement authorities are in possession of the bonds of the truck's driver and his assistant, who are charged with illegal transportation of the legally imported liquor. But they have none of the liquor.

PUZZLES OFFICIALS

Just what is to be done about it remains to be worked out. Whatever the outcome may be, it is expected to clarify understanding of the police department's interpretation of the Jones law as it effects the transportation of diplomatic liquor supplies, which are immune to search and seizure.

The Siamese shipment was halted near the legation yesterday and ordered to the nearest police station, where the drivers were confined.

Recognizing that the liquor belonged to the legation, prohibition Agent Quinn and a policeman then drove the truck to the door of its wine cellar.

There the question of unloading arose. Polite Siamese shrugged their shoulders. That was the truck crew's job, under the arrangement with the Baltimore concern. But the truck crew was in jail, so Quinn and the policeman did it themselves.

TRUCK IN MUD

Then came the problem of getting the truck out of the legation's yard. It takes a lot of truck driving experience to back a big closed van down a narrow driveway. Quinn decided to turn it around. He almost did.

That's where yesterday's proceedings ended, leaving a number of questions open for the consideration today of trained truck trouble shooters, Siamese diplomats, State Department officials, prohibition authorities, the district attorney's office and Washington police.

times every month," said Dannenberg.

IN FINE CONDITION

"Weighs about 214 pounds—is in the pink of condition, although he is more than 60 years old.

"One of keenest traders in Wall street.

AIDS MANY CHARITIES

"Spends large sums for private philanthropies.

"Drinks only champagne when indulging.

"Spends liberally on party—careful in general expenditures."

The cause of Thaw's pronounced incoherent speech has been unrevealed through the years of merciless spotlight which has beaten upon him.

"When Thaw attempted to commit suicide in Pennsylvania during his incarceration, he cut an artery in his neck," said Dannenberg. "This artery controlled the vocal nerves and ever since Thaw's speech has been affected. As a matter of fact, his brain is as keen as a razor. His thoughts are always ahead of his words. Even when he is typewriting he can hardly work the keys fast enough to keep up with his brain."

FAN MAIL HEAVY

Thaw receives an enormous quantity of "fan mail" with many women among his correspondents, Dannenberg revealed. Most of the letters, however, ask for financial assistance.

"For a greater portion of each day, Thaw answers the deserving cases personally on his typewriter," said Dannenberg. "He distributes considerable money in helping poor people, aiding parents to educate their children and to assist the helpless and invalided."

As a trader in Wall Street, Thaw makes an average of $25,000 a year, Dannenberg estimated. He had a particularly good year in 1928-1929 and cleaned up on Warner Brothers, among other things.

NEVER GIVES TIPS

"Thaw figures it out himself and makes it a rule never to give a tip even to his best friend," said Dannenberg. "But he'll ask you if you know anything. And when you tell him, he'll say 'that's okay' or 'that's no good.' And funny thing, he's practically always right."

Thaw receives $58,000 a year from the trust fund provided by his aged mother. When she dies, Harry K. will inherit the vast estate. He keeps residences in Pittsburgh, Winchester, Va., and New York City.

$100,000 Suits Filed In Auto Bus Crash

Two suits, each for $50,000 damages, have been filed in Common Pleas Court against the Pittsburgh Transportation Company as the result of a collision of a bus with an automobile. The plaintiffs are Annie and Catherine Glush, children of John Glush, of Elco, Washington County. They were riding in their father's car October 28 last when it was struck by the bus at Ann's Crossing on the Library road. Catherine suffered a fracture of the skull and Annie concussion of the brain.

5 Election Officials' Parole Pleas Studied

Appeals of five former Fifth Ward and Twenty-second Ward election board officials for release from jail on parole are being considered by Judges J. Frank Graff and Joseph M. They were convicted of election law violations.

FEDERAL ARMY ADVANCING ON TORREON

MEXICO CITY, March 16.—Thirty thousand federal troops under Gen. Calles today were advancing steadily upon Torreon, Coahuilian key city, where Gen. Juan Gonzalo Escobar, rebel chieftain, is entrenched with less than 5,000 men.

At the same time the rebel force surrounding the Sinaloa port of Mazatlan began a steady drive toward that city, where Gen. Jaime Carrillo's retreating federals are reported to have rallied and, supplemented by reinforcements, prepared for a counter attack.

The rebel offensive against Mazatlan has been greatly delayed by the necessity of repairing bridges which Carrillo's troops burned as they retreated.

Gen. Calles yesterday occupied the town of Durango, important rail center, without firing a shot. The rebels retreated to Torreon, where they are faced with the alternative of fighting to the end or retreating northward into the United States, the only direction not cut off by Calles' superior force.

While General Calles today reported to President Portes Gil that he expected Torreon to be evacuated by the rebels, the impression given by other dispatches from the front is that the rebel chieftain will give desperate battle rather retreat across the border.

Rebel advices were that Escobar was preparing a counter-offensive against Calles, a report discounted here in view of Calles' numerical superiority.

ing requests of the County Commissioners, for example, he said, there would be greater hope of success if the subject could be presented through a regional chamber of commerce than if the boroughs and townships acted independently.

The citizens attending the meeting, numbering 400 or more, expressed cordial agreement with Mr. Donough's ideas.

It is tentatively planned to have each of the constituent communities maintain its own small board of trade, which shall be represented in the central chamber of commerce by one member on the board of directors. Weather Conditions.

The disturbance that was centered over Illinois yesterday morning moved rapidly northeastward, producing thunderstorms and light showers along its path, over the Ohio Valley states and the Lake region. It is now centered over the St. Lawrence Valley, lowest barometer, 29.34 inches, at Montreal. It is still raining at scattered places over the Ohio Valley states and snowing at Fort Wayne and Toledo.

River Conditions.

The rivers are now stationary or falling at the headwaters, and at Pittsburgh there has been no change in the last three hours. Below Pittsburgh the Ohio is still rising slowly. The rainfall during the last 24 hours was too light to affect the river stages. Stage at Pittsburgh is 20.4 feet; Dam No. 2, 13.9; Dam No. 6, 22.4; Dam No. 9, 22.0, and Dam No. 12, 19.8. The Ohio will fall at Pittsburgh, but will continue to rise at Wheeling between 22 and 23 feet expected on the Wheeling gage early Sunday morning.

"Queenie," this dog, today wears the medal that Richard, 2½, Los Angeles, its master, holds after presentation by the state commission for the protection of children and dogs. Boatman Himself, Navy Chief Bans Official Yacht WASHINGTON, March 16.—(AP.)—Charles Francis Adams, the new Secretary of the Navy, although a prominent yachtsman in private life, does not feel that a yacht for the use of the Naval Secretary is a "justifiable expense."

Issuing an order for the disposal of the yacht, Sylph, for many years at the service of the Secretary of the Navy, he said it would not be replaced. The Sylph was built in 1898. It was bought by the Navy the same year for $50,000.

Secretary Adams was amateur skipper of the yacht Resolute, which won the international yacht races in 1920.

unavoidable tardiness in rescue may increase the death list considerably.

It was feared that in the scattered rural sections, where the water reached depths varying from 15 to 20 feet, that the cost in life will be high.

Aviators reported widely separated groups clinging precariously to life in scattered and isolated places in the Elba area.

It was reported by the fliers returning from that area that there were several trains stranded in the desolated regions.

Overflow from streams approached a cataclysm at a half dozen Alabama points. Meanwhile parts of Mississippi, Tennessee, Georgia, Northwestern Florida and Arkansas were under water, and in the Carolinas the swollen streams were threatening to leave their banks momentarily.

In Northwest Florida the townspeople of Carryville were reported to have left their homes and gone to Bonifay for safety before a predicted crest of 30 feet in the Choctawhatchee River.

Across the Georgia-Carolina line, At Hamburg, S. C., they were fleeing to higher ground when the rampant Savannah River reached a stage of 30 feet early today and is expected to reach a crest of 31.

PATROL LEVEES

Meanwhile engineers were patrolling weakened, sand-bagged levees along the rising Mississippi, which already has reached flood stage as far south as Memphis. Streets of Hickman, Ky., were reported under several feet of water.

Red Cross units were mobilizing to enter the stricken area in the Southeast, particularly Alabama, where more than 20,000 are already homeless, and thousands more face the same circumstance as streams through the southeast section of the state continued to rise at an alarming rate.

Mail Truck Looted By Chicago Bandits

CHICAGO, March 16.—(AP.)—Four bandits who captured a United States mail truck at the Auburn postoffice last night escaped with five pouches of mail, one of which contained registered matter, and 12 bags of parcel post. The registered mail pouch was understood to have contained valuable securities. The robbers were armed with pistols and a sawed-off shotgun.

BOND SWINDLE ARREST NEAR

"GAVE STEINBERG BONDS"

He readily admitted to detectives, they said, that he knew Steinberg, and told them he had given the film salesman $100,000 worth of bonds to sell a month ago.

Detectives preferred to believe the bonds were part of the loot from the Boven gang's operations, which included a $125,000 holdup of a Canadian mail train at Toronto.

Ober admitted, the detectives said, that he had sold $5,000 worth of the bonds to Clarksburg business men. These bonds will be recovered as soon as they can be traced, it was announced.

HELD AS "FENCE"

The sleuths alleged that Ober was a "fence" for the Boven gang and other bond thieves and that in this he shared business with the suspects under arrest in Pittsburgh: Steinberg, Martin Hendel, Catherine Meyers, and Harry Meyers, alias "Dopey" Davis.

Hendel, who has served a term in the Western Penitentiary for a fur theft, was arrested in Cleveland, O., Thursday by City Detective Murray Edlis. He is at liberty under $2,000 bond.

RUM PENALTIES HURT RACKET

There were consternation and vacancies today in the rum racket, all traceable to Federal Judge Nelson McVicar, who slapped salty sentences on 14 North Siders and South Siders yesterday.

The vacancies were created by the 14 convicted booze racketeers sentenced either to jail or the Federal Penitentiary; the consternation prevailed among those still in the racket, because Judge McVicar ruled that the prisoners should begin their sentences immediately and remain behind the bars pending motions—if any—for new trials.

GEORGE W. OLVANY

DANGER HERE EMPHASIZED IN DRIVE

Because of the possibility of a break that would endanger lives and porperty in Pittsburgh and other Allegheny river cities and towns, a drive has been started to prevent the construction of two enormous dams on the Clarion river.

A break, according to Thomas Liggett, member of the legislative committee of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, would release about 882,000,000 tons of water—equivalent to the volume of Lake Chautauqua—and raise the level of the river here at least 25 feet, wiping out Neville Island and causing millions of dollars loss.

WALL 300 FEET HIGH

According to the applications of the Clairon River Power Company, now pending before the Water and Power Resources Board in Harrisburg, one dam at Mill Creek would be 300 feet high and the other at Foxburg would be approximately 200 feet high, both far larger than any ever constructed in Pennsylvania. At present the highest dam in the state is near Scranton. It is 130 feet high.

The drive to block the construction of the dams, according to Mr. Liggett, centers about an effort to secure legislative approval of the Lamb bill, which would prohibit the construction of any such project more than 100 feet in height. This bill, introduced by Senator Harry H. Lamb, of the Venango-Warren district, on March 11, will come up for final passage in the Senate Monday night.

WOULD FLOOD TOWNS

Powerful interests, Mr. Liggett said, are at work to prevent the passage of the bill. Petitions urging favorable action have been signed by the owners of hundreds of millions of dollars of property in the Pittsburgh district.

The dam at Mill Creek, if constructed, will necessitate the rebuilding of five bridges back water northward as far as Ridgway, flood the towns of Cooksburg, Clarington and parts of Hallton and Arroyo and cover with water a section of the Tionesta Valley Railway, a portion of Cook Forest and oil and gas fields.

The proposed ram at Foxburg would necessitate the reconstruction of three county bridges and several highways. It would be a concrete structure estimated to cost $20,000,000. The Mill Creek dam originally was planned as a concrete structure, but according to word from Harrisburg, the specifications were changed to call for a semi-hydraulic earth dam with a concrete core wall. A hydro-electric plant capable of generating 80,000 horse-power is to be erected at each dam, according to plans.

SEEK TO DIVERT CREEK

In addition to the dams, the interests sponsoring the projects recently applied to the board for approval of a plan to divert water from Tionesta Creek to the Clarion River by means of a tunnel through the intervening hills and mountains. In connection with the Tionesta Creek project, the Clarion River Power Company, said to be allied with the Associated Gas and Electric, plans the organization of six water power companies.

TAMMANY CHIEF OLVANY QUITS

NEW YORK, March 16.—(AP.)—George W. Olvany, leader of Tammany Hall since the death of Charles F. Murphy five years ago, has resigned. While ill health was given as the reason, there was much speculation today about the matter.

The resignation was submitted yesterday by letter at a meeting of the executive committee of the New York County Democratic Committee or Tammany Hall, as more generally known. Neither the letter nor any direct explanation by Olvany was given out. The Times said the letter read substantially as follows:

"Because of ill health and on the advice of my physicians I resign as leader of Tammany Hall."

The committee deferred action on the resignation till next Friday. Olvany was at the meeting. He urged increased membership in a speech before his letter was read.

New York newspapers had various theories to offer. Some suggested the resignation was the outcome of dissatisfaction on the part of Democratic leaders with the poor showing made by Alfred E. Smith in the presidential election in the Tammany districts.

The papers went on to say that Olvany was known to be far from popular with many of the district leaders and was said to have quarreled with Mayor Walker recently about patronage.

Discussion of persons available to take over the leadership immediately brought Gov. Smith's name to the fore.

Suspect in Shooting Of Policeman Held

Because he had what appeared to be a bullet hole in his overcoat pocket, James Wilson, Negro, was under arrest today as a suspect in the shooting of Plainclothesman Frank Scott.

The bullet that struck Scott in the thigh was fired from a revolver in a Negro's pocket in Washington boulevard yesterday while Scott was searching for auto thieves. Wilson, arrested in Penn avenue, had a revolver on his person, police charged.

A testimonial to the value of thrift came today from W. J. Cunningham, of 1704 Irwin avenue, North Side, a county employe. By methodically saving money, he said, he had succeed in acquiring ownership of his home. He continued to save after buying the property, and maintains an account in the Allegheny Trust Company. Walter is not going to spend any of his $25 now, but will leave it in the bank until he has greater need of it.

Ever since the Sun-Telegraph started its thrift campaign Mrs. Fannie Holub, of 321 Milroy avenue, North Side, has been reading the articles carefully. She has been rewarded by a $5 deposit to the credit of bank book No. 66,709 of the Dollar Savings & Trust Company. That is her book.

NEW CHARTER BILL IS READY FOR MELLON

The proposal to substitute an almost completely new measure for the charter bill prepared by the Pittsburgh Metropolitan District commission will be submitted to former State Chairman W. L. Mellon upon his return to Pittsburgh.

Leaders of the Republican organization here expect Mellon to approve the plan. Reports are current that the proposed substitution was discussed by Mellon with Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong, Senator M. G. Leslie and others before the former state chairman left for Florida some time ago.

Mr. Mellon is expected in Pittsburgh today, it was reported last night at his office. There is a possibility, however, that he will not return until Monday as he is scheduled to attend a conference in Harrisburg Sunday evening. Local leaders are anxious to talk over the situation with him before the hearing on the charter, which will be held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon before the Judiciary General Committee of the Senate.

SUBSTITUTION PLANNED

The substitute bill has been prepared under the direction of County Solicitor W. Heber Dithrich and City Solicitor Charles Waldschmidt. According to reports, it is radically different from the commission's bill. The present plan is to have the substitute submitted to the Judiciary General Committee after Tuesday's hearing with the request that it be reported out instead of the other measure.

MANY CHANGES MADE

It is understood that the substitute bill eliminates the Departments of Finance, Personnel and Research and Information. It is said to leave the system of magistrates and justices of the peace as it stands at present instead of creating judges of the Municipal Court to be appointed by the County Court. It would make the office of the county treasurer elective instead of appointive. It would reduce the proposed board of commissioners from seven members to five. Changes would be made in almost every section of the commission charter.

"There are so many changes needed that it would be almost impossible to amend the bill piecemeal," said one of the county's attorneys yesterday.

OPPOSITION FEARED

Organization leaders said the bill, as drafted by the commission, would have no chance of being approved when the special election is held, while the substitute bill is designed to eliminate as much opposition as possible. This is one of the reasons why Mr. Mellon, who has been one of the important factors in moving the Metropolitan District project to its present position, is expected to give it his approval.

Representative Louis W. Hagmaier, Aspinwall, has called a meeting of borough and township officials from the Thirteenth legislative district to discuss the bill this afternoon. The meeting will be held in North Side City Hall at 2 o'clock.

WAR ON DRY LAW RENEWED IN RHODE ISLAND ASSEMBLY

PROVIDENCE, March 16.—(AP.)—Renewal of Rhode Island's struggle against the Eighteenth Amendment, on different grounds from a similar fight in 1921, is forecast in the introduction in the general assembly yesterday of a resolution directing the state attorney general to seek a ruling from the supreme bench on whether the amendment ever had been validly enacted.

The resolution directs Attorney General Charles P. Sisson to seek the Supreme Court's opinion on two questions:

"Whether 36 state legislatures have validly enacted this amendment, and whether they had a right to do so."

The appeal is based on different premises from those on which Attorney General Herbert A. Rice fought the amendment before the Supreme Court in 1921. At that time, following upon a resolution adopted in the General Assembly of 1919, directing Attorney General Rice to determine the constitutionality of the amendment, then not effected, Rhode Island waged a fight on the basis that the people of the state would be deprived "of that liberty of self-government in the management and conduct of their domestic affairs as a community, which it was the very purpose of the Constitution of the United States to secure to them.

The purpose of the new appeal to the Supreme Court, according to the terms of the resolution, is to "re-establish the Constitution of the United States in the hearts and minds of American citizens."

The resolution was put in by Representative William F. Fox, of Woonsocket.

STORAGE PORK UNLOADED

The Pittsburgh retail meat markets are being flooded with cold storage pork loins by a maneuver of wholesalers seeking to unload stocks carried in storage houses, according to reports to E. P. Jones, general agent here of the State Department of Foods and Chemistry.

As a result, Mr. Jones today issued a general warning to housewives to be on the alert to prevent unscrupulous dealers from selling them the storage product without identifying it as such as required by law.

Mr. Jones said his warning was not against the purchase of the storage product, but against misrepresentation of it as fresh pork. The sale of storage meat, if it is stamped "wholesome cold storage food" is legal, but the price should be condiserably lower than the fresh pork price.

Packers have forced the price of fresh loins up to at least 10 cents a pound above a normal price to force the sale of storage pork, dealers reported to Mr. Jones.

NEWTON NAMED SECRETARY BY HOOVER

WASHINGTON, March 16.—(AP.)—President Hoover completed the circle of his official White House family yesterday with the appointment of Representative Walter H. Newton, of Minnesota, as administrative assistant with the title of secretary.

Mr. Newton will be the liaison officer between the chief executive and the independent federal bureaus and agencies such as the veterans' bureau and shipping board; will generally assist in the co-ordination of the administrative work of the 10 regular departments of the government, and will co-operate with the cabinet officers in the study and development of a plan for the reorganization of those departments.

This is an entirely new office created by Mr. Hoover for the dual purpose of promoting efficiency in the federal service and removing from his own shoulders the burden of details of administrative affairs in the independent agencies which heretofore have been borne by the President.

Falls Down Stairs, Man Dies Later

Found dying in the hallway of an apartment house at 2709 Sarah street today, Walter Taylor, 40, of the second floor at that address, was declared to have been the victim of a fall by homicide squad detectives. Taylor died of a fracture of the skull in the South Side Hospital. Detectives said he probably had tripped at the head of the stairs and fallen to the hallway, where Joseph Yarsky, 15, of 2711 Sarah street, found him.

Injured Flagman Sues for $50,000

David A. Kephart, a flagman for the Pittsburgh Railways Company at Liberty avenue and Twenty-eighth street, has filed suit in Common Pleas Court for $50,000 damages against the Pittsburgh Transportation Company because of injuries he received when struck by a taxicab while at his post of duty October 21. His leg and three ribs were broken.

10,000 Volts Kill Boy Trying to Steal Switch

WHITTIER, Cal., March 16.—(INS.)—Sudden death descended yesterday upon Gregorio Rios, 16, as he was in the act of an asserted theft in the Sante Fe Springs oil field.

Seeking to detach a copper switch from the electric plant of an oil company, the boy's hand came in contact with a wire through which coursed 10,000 volts of electricity.

With three young companions—themselves with stolen switches in their pockets—looked on in terror, Rios' body writhed for a few seconds, then stiffened out. He was dead.

HUGE U. S. TAX IN EARLY

There was more income tax paid in Pittsburgh this year than last, but the payment was a more orderly procedure than ever before, Collector of Internal Revenue D. B. Heiner said today.

The annual eleventh-hour rush of taxpayers to the Federal Building did not materialize last night. Although the offices remained open until midnight the crowds around the windows were small and dwindled toward midnight to a few belated payees.

Heiner estimated that the 1928 tax here would total around $83,000,000, or $1,000,000 better than for 1927. This, he said, was far below the figures for the war years, however.

A higher percentage than ever of taxpayers paid by mail this year, and the clerks handling the returns were swamped today with bags of letters. Heiner estimated that it might be a week before this mail would all be handled.

Her husband rendered her unconscious by a blow from his fist when she told him it was none of his business if she smoked cigarets, Mrs. Helen Burinda, 1043 Woods Run avenue, testified in her divorce suit against John Burinda. The case was tried before Judge John A. Evans, who reserved his decision. The couple married in 1914.

BILL GIVING CITY HALF OF AUTO FEES READY

A bill authorizing a return to the city treasury of 50 per cent of the automobile license fees originating in Pittsburgh will be presented to the Legislature next Monday by Representative Joseph C. Marcus.

James F. Malone, president of Council, leading the movement for the refund, emphasized that the proposed bill was separate from any plan for increasing the gasoline tax or the fees for drivers' or registry licenses.

The refund proposal has the indorsement of all the second and third-class cities and most of the boroughs and townships of the state, Malone said.

Malone believes the refund is equitable because the increased automobile traffic places a heavy burden on the taxpayer in furnishing funds for maintaining streets and providing policemen and mechanical equipment to control traffic.

COUNTY CHIEFS AID DRIVE FOR U. S. TAX CUT

County officials and employes are throwing their influence behind the movement for the reduction of the tax on earned incomes.

"While our salaries as officers of the government are exempt under the law," said one county officeholder, "we sympathize with the great body of professional people and wage earners who have to pay a high assessment and join in the appeal for downward revision for the public good."

MAJ. HAY

Maj. A. B. Hay, national commander of the Union Veteran Legion, nestor of the staff in the district attorney's office and known as Allegheny County's "grand old man," is a believer in less tax on earned incomes. In his four score years, Maj. Hay declares that he has witnessed the struggles of salaried men and wage earners and knows of the affliction which many suffer.

"Those who are successful in a material way and accumulate capital pay willingly on their accrued wealth," said Maj. Hay, "but at the same time the law has been careful to protect them through exemptions on losses of property and depreciation of one sort and another. But it is a sad commentary on our system of government that depreciation of health and vigor suffered by the wage earner cannot be charged off."

GARDNER SIGNS

District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner led off the list of signers in the petitions circulated in the Courthouse. He said:

"Congress surely will give heed to these petitions. It is probably the most popular movement that ever swept the country. I am glad to see the Sun-Telegraph take up the campaign in Pittsburgh, where we have the largest number of income taxpayers in the country."

Mrs. Mercedes Cohill, chief clerk in the office of Maj. John H. Shenkel, chief court clerk, volunteered to obtain signers in the circulation of the petitions in the Courthouse and other county offices. Taking her blank petitions, she went to the office of District Attorney Gardner and, obtaining his signature, continued through the building. Mrs. Cohill declared that she had not found any who refused to sign.

LAWYERS AID

While the Allegheny County Bar Association is considering an indorsement of income tax revision, scores of lawyers individually have signed the petitions clipped from the Sun-Telegraph. Among the attorneys on a petition received yesterday were: George E. Stebbins, Earl L. Parmlee, Edward Hoopes III, Bruce G. Mackey, Lester G. Budlong and William H. Parmlee, all of the Farmers Bank Building.

DRY AGENTS HIT HOUSEBOATS

Federal prohibition agents seized two houseboats moored on the north banks of the Allegheny River about 200 yards east of the Ninth Street Bridge, and arrested two men yesterday. Behind the bar in the larger boat, the agents reported finding large quantities of whisky. The seizure today was being guarded by the raiders, who are awaiting word of further procedure.

William Redmond, 32, of 408 East General Robinson street, and August Bender, 62, of 507 East Lacock street, arrested in the "floating speakeasy," were at liberty today in $1,000 bonds each. Three dwellings in Russelton also were hit. Moonshine was reported found in each and the occupants released on their own recognizance.

More than 800 members of the Get-Together Association of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company will meet tonight in McCreery's dining room for their annual banquet. William A. Jordan, formerly a federal district attorney, and Joseph N. Mackrell, register of wills, will speak.

Woman Gone on Trip, Thieves Enter Home

Mrs. Mayetta Jackson, Negro, 1320 Colwell street, reported to police today that, in her absence in New York, thieves had entered her home and stolen clothing and jewelry valued at $348. Entrance was gained by breaking a rear window.

20, SNOWBOUND AT INN, AIDED

LARAMIE, Wyo., March 16.—(AP.)—Replenished food supplies and the prospects of warmer weather today alleviated the plight of 18 men and one woman and a baby, storm bound at Summit Inn, high up in the Rockies, where great snow drifts have blocked their only outlet over a mountain road.

Bucking drifts more than six feet deep, through the rugged Telephone Canyon, 10 miles east of Laramie, two of the marooned men made their way here on snow shoes and cut a path over which they were able to return to Summit Inn with food and medical supplies.

With sufficient food and fuel for several days, others at the inn made no effort to reach Laramie until there is improvement in road conditions. The road is expected to be open within three or four days.

Parrot Screaming 'Fire' Saves 100 As Two Die

CHICAGO, March 16.—(INS.)—An unidentified man and woman lost their lives in an apartment building fire here today.

Firemen, who found the bodies in a first floor apartment, previously had led more than 100 other tenants to safety.

Coming Amusements Announced With News From Hollywood Studios

DAVID BELASCO AND SHUBERTS MAKE STAGE OFFERS TO LUPE VELEZ

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1929, by Premier Syndicate).

HOLLYWOOD, March 16.

ANOTHER pertinent observation is published in Life. It concerns a Hollywood pastor who states: "The congregation will now rise and sing 'Lead, Kindly Light,' which is the theme song for this morning's service."

As Flossie Murphy, the colony's impromptu philosopher, has so often remarked: "You don't hafter be a voodvil contortionist to open your mouth and put your foot in it."

Word drifts 3,000 miles from New York that since Lupe Velez arrived to put the town in her pocket, she has received stage offers from David Belasco and the Shuberts. But Lupe is mated to the sinema for the nonce.

Norma Shearer attracted a deal of attention at the opening of Doug Fairbanks' picture, "The Iron Mask." Norma was a "train widow" that eve. Reason: Irving Thalberg is in the East on a mission that the colony cogitates over. Anytime an executive takes a trip these days it—the trip—is interpreted in terms of merger. Wonder which company will annex the local gas outfit?

"The Virginian" For Gary Cooper

Noah Beery's trout ranch sold $70,000 worth of trout last year . . . Hedda Hopper's six-foot son, Bill, who is only 14 years old, is in a Catlina school. Bill has no flicker ambitions. He hankers for aeronautics. Hedda is playing in "The Last of Mrs. Cheney" these days.

Gary Cooper's vacation comes to an end around April 1, at which time he begins talky rehearsals for "The Virginian," direction Victor Fleming. Some talk that Esther Ralston may be the school marm. Gary, incidentally, has shaved his moustache, which is gladsome news. Since Lupe went East, Gary experimented on taking one of the eagles he gave her into the house. The dern bird went crazy when it saw itself in a mirror and tried to fly through the contraption!

Viola Dana is learning to play bridge. She confessed to having passed a hand that held four aces! Don't shoot, Vi. . .

Anne Cornwall Back on Stage

ANNE CORNWALL, petite flicker-ite, returns to the stage after a six years' absence Sunday eve to appear as the heroine in "Broadway." Franklin Pangborn will play the hoofer; James Crane, the heavy Steve, and Isabel Withers, the fem two-shooter. Pangborn has taken over the Vine Street Theater, formerly occupied by Eddie Horton and his stock company. Frank is now running the whole shebang, and doing a neat job of it.

Anne Cornwall

Espied Doug Fairbanks prowling restlessly through the Carthay Circle lobby at the opening of "The Iron Mask." Doug was suffering from opening night-etis. "How do you like the leading man?" cross-examined the inquiring reporter. "Oh, I don't know," critized Doug. "I think he sort of petered out in that last reel." "Well, just because you're jealous is no reason to show it," reproved the I. R. Doug is pretty gosh darn swell in this flick.

Kitchen Suppers Movies' Latest

SCREENALITIES: Nocturnal kitchen suppers are beginning to be the fad hereabouts. 'Tother eve., after a party, Gloria Swanson bustled a group to her house for a scrambled egg repast. Eddie Goulding, James Ford and Harry D'Arrast were in the party. They decided to get another fem or two and gave Ruth Chatterton a 2:30 a. m. jingle. But Ruth had to work the next day, so she returned to pleasant dreams. La Swanson happened to traipse upstairs and there found Lois Wilson sound asleep, Lois having dropped in earlier in the eve. So she was routed to the kitchen where a light repast was munched by all. . . May Allison Quick has penned a delightful stock market yarn that appears in this month's Cosmopolitan. The colony read it with gusto—in the event one can read thusly. . . Bessie Love and Eddie Foy lunching at ye Montmartre. Bessie will be honor guest at a party given for her at the Breakfast Club tomorrow eve. . . Gene Hum rises to sigh: "God save the king. The queen can take care or herself." He may or may not be referring to poker. . . May McAvoy is sorta getting ready for her marriage in June. May hasn't worked for some time now. That's the village for you. Rushes and lulls and vice versa. . . Jimmy Hall visiting Merna Kennedy on the "Broadway" set. Jimmy wore a pair of brown spats. Now Jimmy. . . Betty Bronson and Blanche Sweet playing tennis on a Franklin avenue court. . . Patsy Ruth Miller and Tay Garnett, the director, speeding down the boulevard. It looks serious. . . And—that's all.

Actors Honored By Variety Club

Variety Club made merry in the club rooms in the William Penn Hotel last night in honor of Freda and Palace, associate members, who have been playing in Pittsburgh this week. Numerous other actor folk were in attendance, including Kenneth Harlan, Roy Cummings and Peter Higgins, the latter a Pittsburgh boy singing in vaudeville. There was impromptu entertainment and a spread. Last week Variety added to its associate membership Jackie Coogan and the senior Coogan, Harry Richman, Tom Patricola, Sam Ledner, and Eugene and Willie Howard.

"Marriage a la Carte" and "The Slave Market" are two of the scenes in "Speed Girls of 1929," opening Sunday in the Academy with a midnight show. Nellie Nice and Fred "Falls" Binder are featured players.

Lois Wilson and Conrad Nagel are starred in the Warner Vitaphone film, "Kid Gloves" opening today in the Enright. Dick Powell conducts the stage show, "Chasin' Rainbows."

"The Barkers," a drama of carnival life, opens today in the Regent. It is a talking picture. Milton Sills is the star.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Pendulum of Society on Swing

THE pendulum has begun to swing our way again, and news about this schedule of events and that coming to a close down in the Florida resorts tells us, indirectly, that the northward trek will soon begin in earnest. This week has seen the final concert in the series sponsored by the Society of Arts at Palm Beach, and also the last Current Events lecture. The number of parties seem to be decreasing down there, too, although one of the week's social affairs was quite large. This was the circus given Monday night by the Edward F. Huttons, of New York, and which many members of the Pittsburgh colony attended.

Today there is an interesting event at the beach—a boxing tea. This is being held at the Oasis Club and, naturally, attracted nearly all the winter visitors.

And while we're talking about the folks away from home, did you know that the Alexander Laughlins are sailing for Europe today on the Olympic? They arrived in New York yesterday, and stopped over night at the Savoy-Plaza. At the same hotel, by the way, are the Newton Chapins.

The Tom M. Girdlers, of Academy avenue, Sewickley, are planning to leave tomorrow for New York, I understand. Next week, Mrs. Girdler and her daughter, Betty, and son, Tom, Jr., will go down to Atlantic City to spend about 10 days. From there, Betty will return to Putnam Hall, and Tom, Jr., will go back to the Tome School. This will be, of course, the young folks' Easter holiday from school.

SPEAKING of parties down South, Mrs. William Penn Snyder, Jr., of Morewood avenue, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. George Q. Whitney, in New Orleans, has been widely entertained. On Thursday, I understand, Mrs. Thomas J. Stanton was hostess at one of these affairs, entertaining at luncheon in the Patio Royal. Among the guests were Mrs. Lewis Hardie, Mrs. John Fairfax, Mrs. Charles W. Wells, Mrs. George A. Stanton, Mrs. Donald Maginnis and Miss Louisa Stauffer.

THE two Rose girls, Margaret and Ann, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Don Rose, of Sewickley, have been spending the winter in Pinehurst as the guests of Dr. and Mrs. DeWitt B. Nettleton, of Broad street, Sewickley, at their winter home. They will come north in May, I understand, in plenty of time to prepare for their debut, which will take place in June.

THE William W. Cunninghams, of Frederick avenue, Sewickley, are expected home some time next month. The Cunninghams, you may know, have been spending most of the winter out in Hollywood, Cal., and they expect to leave about the first of the month to drive back home.

NATIONAL flags and the colors of the Aero Club, the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the One Hundred and Seventh Field Artillery were used to decorate the ballroom of the William Penn Hotel last night for the Aero Club's annual ball. There were two orchestras to provide music for continuous dancing.

The reception committee included Col. T. M Anderson, Col. R. M. Brambila, Col. M C. Corey, Col Harry C. Fry, Col. William Thaw and Col. A. W. Wycoff, and the boxholders were William B. Jones, Stewart C. McFarland, Albert Rick, Col. Fry, Louis C. Faurot, Paul E. Hutchison, W. B. Rodgers and Bert Smyers.

MR. AND MRS. FRED L. MILLER, of Toledo, O., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Gladys Jeannette Miller, to Eugene Exman, of New York. Miss Miller is a graduate of Denison University and for the past six years has been assistant to the Rev. Dr. C. Wallace Petty, pastor of the First Baptist Church. Mr. Exman is also a Denison graduate. A late spring wedding is planned.

THE marriage of Miss Esther Catherine Texter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Franklin Texter, of Ellwood City, formerly of Edgewood, and Jacob Herbert Boots, of Ellwood City, was solemnized yesterday at 5:30 o'clock in the home of the bride's sister, Miss Dorothy Texter, in the Ruskin Apartments, with only the immediate families present. A dinner in the University Club followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Boots will make their home in Ellwood City.

The bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Texter, are leaving to spend two months with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Howard G. Texter, of Tulsa, Okla.

ON Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the ballroom of the Penn Lincoln Hotel, Wilkinsburg, the marriage of Miss Anna May Daibler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Daibler, of Ross avenue, Wilkinsburg, and Harry Clay Donaldson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Donaldson, of Beechwood boulevard was solemnized by the Rev. K. L. Cramer, uncle of the bride. The bride was gowned in white satin trimmed with silk lace, and her tulle veil was caught with pearls and orange blossoms. She carried a shower of white roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Jane Daibler, as her sister's maid of honor, appeared in turquoise blue taffeta and carried tea roses. The bridesmaids were Miss Dorothy Smith, of East Palestine, and Miss Evelyn Mackall, of East Liverpool, and they wore peach taffeta and carried pink roses. Thomas Somerville, cousin of the bride, was ringbearer, and Miss Mary Switalski, of this city, played the wedding music. Mrs. Thomas Somerville, of Monongahela, aunt of the bride, sang. The ushers included Robert and Louis Yagle, of Pittsburgh. A dinner followed the ceremony, and later Mr. and Mrs. Donaldson left for a southern trip. They will be at home in Stanton Court after April 15.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE A. WALLACE, of Bellevue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mabel Lucille Wallace, to Wilmer J. Shadle, son of Mrs. Anna Shadle, of Leechburg. Miss Wallace is a graduate of Westminster College and the Carnegie Library School, and is a member of Sigma Kappa Sorority. Mr. Shadle attended Grove City College.

"I reach for a Lucky instead of a sweet"

"Whirling along the ground at 231 miles per hour to a new world's record was a thrilling experience. It was speed in breath-taking fashion. When I finally brought 'The Golden Arrow' to halt, the nerve let-down was terrific. But out came my pack of Lucky Strike and I soon was smoking in complete happiness. After the strain of my ride the toasted fragrance of Luckies was like a tonic. I reach for a Lucky instead of a sweet. I want to keep trim and fit. I want to feel the glow of pep and health at all times—the thought of excess weight really frightens me. I welcome a Lucky instead of sweets and things that would make me soft."

Note: Authorities attribute the enormous increase in Cigarette smoking to the improvement in the process of Cigarette manufacture by the application of heat. It is true that during 1928, Lucky Strike Cigarettes showed a greater increase than all other Cigarettes combined. This confirms in no uncertain terms the public's confidence in the superiority of Lucky Strike.

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

No "If" in Love

NEVER ask yourself IF a man loves you. There is no "if" in the bright lexicon of love.

* * *

When a man's in love the fact is as obvious as the rouge on a show girl's lips or the false mustache on a movie comedian.

* * *

A woman may sometimes dissemble her love, for reasons of policy. But when love strikes a man it knocks all the caution, discretion and policy out of his head, and leaves nothing there but visions of the woman.

HELEN ROWLAND

If a man loves you he'll show it in ACTIONS—and that doesn't mean just by petting you when you happen to be the woman nearest at hand.

* * *

His words don't count, because telling a woman that you love her or that she's the most wonderful thing you've met in your life, is just a popular way of opening a dinner conversation these days, and means no more than a handshake or a polite bow.

There are three infallible signs of love. And the first of these is a man's desire and determination to be WITH you. From the moment you enter his life, his clubs, his bachelor friends, and even his duties and his obligations fade into insignificance beside the chance to be in YOUR company.

* * *

NOTHING can keep him away from you except jail or a broken leg. The wildest party is a dud if you are not there, and the dullest party is a wow if you ARE there. And if he can't get TO you he'll get into communication with you somehow, if he has to walk a mile to a telephone, or spend his last cent for a wireless. Yes, even if he has to sit down and write a love letter.

* * *

The second sign of love in a man is his thoughtfulness and tenderness. His desire to DO things for you, to give you things to make you happy.

The most self-centered man on earth will suddenly forget his own comfort and become as tender and solicitous as a mother, in the first throes of his love. And the tightest tight-wad will open his pockets wide enough to buy you a rose or a magazine or a bunch of field flowers. Doing things for the woman he loves is the strongest instinct in man and the inspiration of most of his success and achievements in life.

You can't judge a man's love by the value or costliness of his presents—but don't, for a moment, fancy that the man who forgets you Christmas or St. Valentine's Day, really loves you. He loves only himself—or some other woman.

The third sign of love, in a man, is his blind, whole-hearted admiration for you. As long as a man is in love all a woman's ways are right in his eyes, and everything about her is beautiful or admirable. He can't even SEE another woman when she is around. He may not say it with words, because some men are dumb and inarticulate, and a compliment sticks in their throats. But he will say it in looks—and ACTIONS.

* * *

Words and kisses don't count any more. They have lost their meaning since they have ceased to be exclusive. But you can still tell when a man's in love by his ACTS—and there is no "if" about these.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

How Many Days Are You Free From Pain?

NO greater gift could be given man than freedom from the little annoyances. In a sense these are worse than the big ailments. Certainly they are more common.

DR. COPELAND

How many days do you have in the year when you are entirely free from pain, aches or discomfort of some kind? If it isn't a stomach ache, it is a headache. If it isn't a pain in your knee, it is a pain in your ear. In short, there is a pain somewhere in your body most of the time.

This should not be true. If we lived right, it wouldn't be. At least, it wouldn't be the case if back of our own right living, was a record of right living on the part of our ancestors.

But alas! We must endure many disagreeable symptoms. But let's do our part to escape their exasperating effects. With every month of correct living, will come increased prospect of dodging these little evils.

Today I shall speak of one or two such disturbances as I have in mind. The first is headache. To this I could add eyeache, earache, pain in the back and cramps in the legs. There are other pains, too. But let's talk about headache.

There are many varieties of pain in the head. It may be in the forehead, over the eyes. It may be on top of the head. It may be in the back of the neck.

It may be a dull ache, or a throbbing pain. It may be a sharp and cutting pain.

It may be a constant pain. It may come and go. It may be made worse by every movement. There are endless varieties of headache.

But it is another sort of headache I have in mind today. It is "migraine," "megrim," or sick headache I desire to describe.

Just as we have degrees of pain in all aches, so we have it in this. It may be intense, almost unbearable. It may be more or less periodic in its attacks. It may be so severe as to cause sickness at the stomach, and vomiting, even.

One variety of migraine may begin with flashes of light, partial and temporary loss of vision, and similar disturbances in vision. Half the field of vision may disappear. When you look straight ahead everything to the right or to the left, as the case may be, will be blurred or entirely invisible.

If you look at the middle of your watch dial and should be able to see every numeral on the face, some of the numbers on the watch face will not be seen. There will be a blank at that spot. This is an example of one type.

Sometimes the attacks of more pronounced sick headaches give warning of their approach. There is restlessness, perhaps. There may be mental depression and perhaps sleepiness.

Then the flashes of light and headache in one spot or half the head come along. The symptoms last a few minutes, an hour, or all day. Afterward they gradually disappear.

Anaemic persons and those who overwork and overworry are more likely to be involved. Indigestion, gout, great excitement or something about the menstrual periods may appear to be associated with the headache or be responsible for it.

It takes a lot of study to find the cause of repeated attacks like this. It takes a lot of research to locate the seat of trouble. There may be a need of spectacles. But what is useful as a remedy your doctor will give you.

AVOID UGLY PIMPLES

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

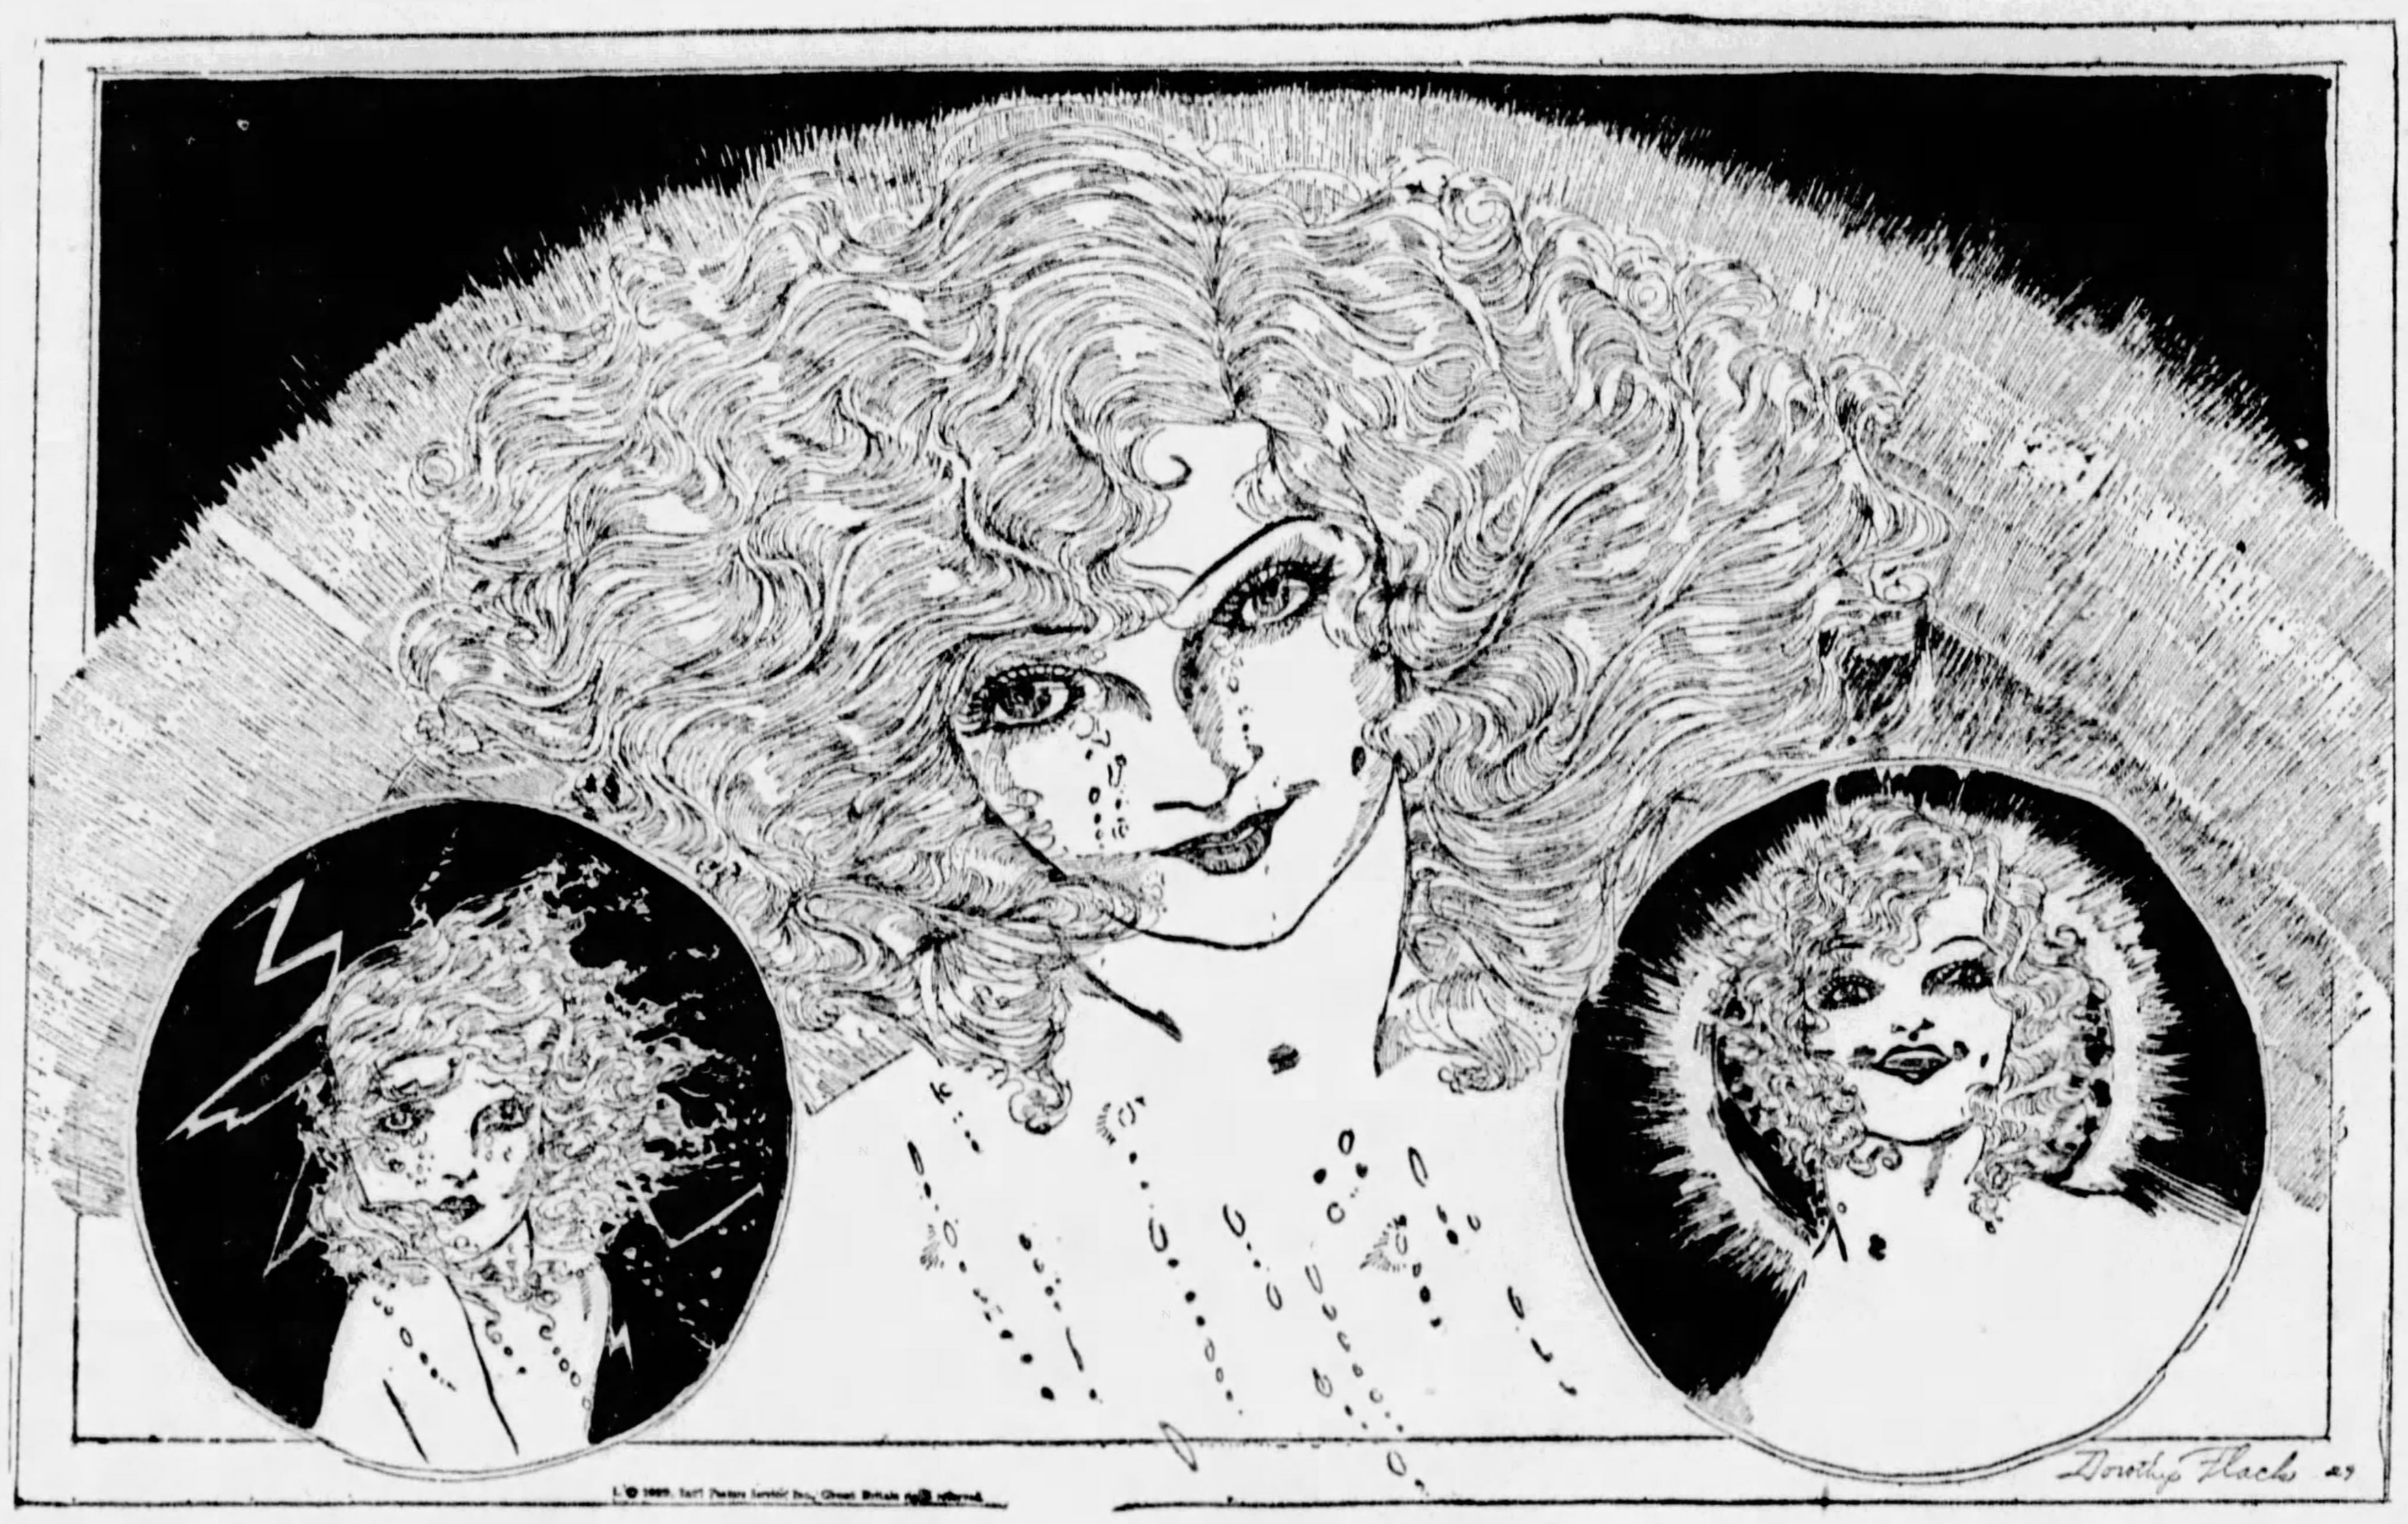
No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c, 30c, 60c.

THE RAINBOW

Drawn by Dorothy Flack



LIKE the flash of a rainbow across the sky is the smile that shines through tears! Just as the rainbow heartens and cheers a dreary world, so does a smile shining through the tears of heart-break or grief bring with it a glow of happiness that is divine.

I don't mean the smile that attempts to cover a lightning storm of anger. This is but the smile that tries to cover the hurt which it has given. And that's never the kind of a smile that one wants to see.

Nor does one particularly care for the smile that never comes off—but that is worn like a mask to hide a disposition that is far from sunny.

The smile that covers a breaking heart, yet tries to alleviate the pain and suffering of others—that's the smile I mean. And when you find such a smile in one whom you think is the one for you; you're sure of making no mistake. For that's the smile that will lighten and cheer you through life. The smile that will bring naught but joy and happiness on all whom it may greet.

Don't mistake me! I'm not referring to the one whose tears are ever ready to flow in a copious stream to gain sympathy. Far from it! For such tears and smiles are as hypocritical as the disposition of the one who sheds them.

Watch and you'll be able to discover which is real and which is crocodile. And steer clear of the crocodile!

LOVE'S AWAKENING

A CONTINUATION OF LOVE'S EMBERS

By ADELE GARRISON

Lillian Learns Real Reason for Harry's Trip

WITH sudden courage born of the knowledge of my own integrity of motive, I looked at Lillian steadily.

"You may not like this confession," I said soberly, "but you have asked for it—"

"Therefore, 'let her have it,' says you," Lillian returned merrily. "Suppose I spare you by telling you myself. Because of my attack of headache, you and Katherine decided that Harry was getting on my nerves with his kidding and his 'old dears' and 'old things' and all the rest of his slang. So you mustered up your courage and told him about it, and he promptly flew off the handle and thought he'd invent an excuse for going to the city—give me a rest. Hence the telegram."

I wondered if she really were as blind as she appeared. Or had I been mistaken in thinking she had noticed Marion's shuddering aversion to her stepfather's slangy bantering endearment addressed to her mother? Before I had finished the thought, Lillian rose abruptly from her chair, caught my hands, swung me to my feet and holding me away from her, looked at me with eyes suddenly misty.

"You blessed old dear, I can't play the clown any longer," she said. "Don't you suppose I know that it's on Marion's account you and Katherine and Harry have entered into this loving conspiracy—oh, yes, I'm sure you're all in it. You've seen, as I have, how she winces every time Harry speaks to me in that dear, slangy way of his—I love it, Madge—he wouldn't be Harry unless he talked that way, and so you've planned to have him change his speech. But what you didn't take into consideration was the impossibility of the leopard changing his spots. Harry's trying to alter his manner of speech to me transformed him into a stuffed automaton with a mechanical squeak inside him.

"I'll confess it hurt and puzzled me at first," Lillian went on. "I was just nervous enough to fancy that I'd mortally offended him in some way. But tell me this: How long does he expect to be away?"

"Only until Marion's vacation is over," I said, and put up my hand as she made a quick movement of dissent.

"Please hear me out in this," I begged. "Of course you feel that your husband is making a martyr of himself, and in a way he is, but it won't hurt him, not half as much as for him to feel that his presence here is making Marion's vacation with you unhappy. Remember, he and you will have nearly a year of companionship while she is at school, and this is her only time with you. I think he is very glad to arrange matters so that she will have that time uninterrupted."

Her face was working now, her eyes filled with tears.

"I had so hoped—" she began broken. "You cannot know, Madge how I am torn between—"

I put my hands upon her shoulders and shook her lovingly.

"Will you stop this utter nonsense?" I said, but my heart was hot with anger at Dicky's jest and the telegraph office mistake which had caused our little scheme to fall so flat. "Won't you believe me when I tell you that I think Harry has made more progress with Marion in the last 24 hours than in all the time since his return. I have told her that he is going away, and I am sure that if there was any way of keeping him here, without his knowing that she had found out about this plan, she would be glad to have him remain here. But there isn't—you know that, and I am glad of it. If you can keep from spoiling the whole thing with hysteria, his going away at this time may be the very thing which will solve the whole problem for you."

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Two Aunt Emmas

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. How should I sign my name? I am a widow with a little daughter. How should I sign insurance papers, building and loan papers, bank accounts, trusteeship papers, and so forth

2. In sending a gift to a niece who has two Aunt Emmas, how can I indicate which Aunt Emma is sending the gift?

A DAILY READER.

AS a widow you sign your name as you did when your husband was living. Your signature, for instance to a business letter or a letter that demands your formal name also, should be:

Yours very truly,
MARY SMITH BROWN.
(Mrs. Henry Brown)

For business papers Mary Smith Brown is usually the correct signature, but if more is needed, sign Mrs. Henry Brown in parenthesis under it. If there is any doubt about the form of your signature that is demanded for certain papers, you can easily ascertain the required form from the official.

2. Use the last name after the "Aunt Emma."

Restaurant Etiquet

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

When I go to restaurants and order plain rolls, should I cut the roll open and butter it, or do I butter it on top? ANXIOUS.

NEITHER. You should break a piece from the roll, butter it, and eat it before you break off the next piece. Do not cut the roll.

Proper Mourning Costumes

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you please tell me if it is correct to wear a satin or any other dress with a shiny finish for mourning, or does it have to be a dull black? It is being worn for an elderly man by his daughter and daughter-in-laws.

A. D. V.

THE fabric or material—for dress, or shoes or hat or gloves, or bag, or any other accessory of the costume—used for mourning should be of dull finish. Satin is not correct.

Absolutely Incorrect

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Do you consider it correct or incorrect to write a letter to a very close girl friend with red ink? My friend and I were discussing the subject and know that you can help us. WAITING.

WRITING a letter in any color of ink except black or dark blue is not correct. Red ink and purple ink and ink of all other garish colors are not in good taste or in good form. This kind of thing takes its place in the category of social things that are "not done."

A Legal Relationship

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you please inform me if my wife's sister's husband is my brother-in-law? J. D.

YES.

Horoscopes

Sunday, March 17

SUNDAY'S horoscope is not an important one, excepting for affairs of the church and professional activities. It is a good time for correspondence or for inaugurating publicity campaigns or enterprises which may be handled by mail. There is a menace of some personal disagreement.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of conflicting interests, with some activity in connection with letters, writings or publicity, but personal affairs may not be entirely pleasant.

A child born on this day may be enterprising as well as gifted in many directions. It should make fair success in life.

Monday, March 18

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is not entirely fortunate, although it makes for activity and new ventures. It would be well to postpone change and travel until a more propitious rule of the planets. Employment seems to be in jeopardy and there is a hint of some stubborn obstacle to be removed by industry and determination.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year in which obstacles must be removed by perseverance and patience. While new ventures present, and with fair prospects, yet there is a menace from change and employment is in jeopardy.

A child born on this day may be versatile and talented, but erratic, stubborn and may find it difficult to get along in employment unless well trained and disciplined.

WHAT'S ON THE AIR

2D PITTSBURGH PERIOD FEATURES RADIO BILLS

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor.

MORE gripping than a tale by H. G. Wells or Jules Verne is the story of an attempt to be made by KDKA tonight to reach a party of six men in the Byrd expedition who have been alone in the Antarctic wilderness for several days. The men are on a sledging expedition to place supplies at a point 70 miles south of Little America for the use of Commander Byrd and his crew on the route to the South Pole.

KDKA will avail itself of every ounce of power in this superhuman effort. Reception by the Byrd party will be difficult because of dense woods and other natural barriers. The exploring party will use a set operated by dry cell batteries. The antenna will be erected by planting a bamboo pole in the snow. If KDKA gets through it will mean the transmission and reception of radio voice over an expanse of more than 11,000 miles under the greatest of handicaps. The program goes on the air at 11:05 o'clock.

The announcement that KDKA will broadcast messages to South Africa at the same time is dwarfed in significance, but we can remember the time when fans considered even this a "pipe dream." Such is the advance being made by radio.

2D PITTSBURGH PERIOD

The Eskimos and the Africans will have an opportunity tonight to learn more about Pittsburgh when KDKA uses its short wave system to broadcast the Pittsburgh Period at 10:01 p. m. We liked the inaugural broadcast last week. "Pa Pitt" was very hospitable to "Mr. Newcomb" and we feel sure the old gentleman and his guest will have a great time discussing the growth of our city this evening.

We anticipate a thrill in Lew White's "Evolution of the Organ," WCAE at 8 o'clock. It is White's own composition, starting out with the old reed organ and using every facility of the modern organ to illustrate the marvelous development of this instrument.

"The Three Solitaires" by a cornet trio should be good on the KDKA program at 8 o'clock.

Two influential statesmen will debate "The Farm Problem," WJAS at 10 p. m. Senator Charles L. McNary, of Oregon, will take issue with Senator Ellison D. Smith, of South Carolina. The Army band will play.

A descriptive piece, "The Preacher and the Bear" is the highlight of the Lucky Dance Orchestra from WCAE at 10 o'clock.

Brett Starts on Trip to Ranch to Kidnap His Son From Felicia

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Dick Stuyvesant and Felicia Brett, both in Reno for divorce, meet and fall in love with each other. With Dick at the hotel is a bachelor friend, John Berkeley, usually called J. B. Felicia, with her 6-year-old son, is visiting the Hodges, old friends from the East, now permanent residents of Reno. Her husband, Alexander Brett, comes to Reno and on her refusal to return to him, threatens to take little Alex away from her. He hires detectives to watch Felicia and has two gunmen kidnap the boy. The boy is rescued by an odd character known as the Desert Rat and restored to Dick and J. B., who are out looking for him with a member of the state police. From the report of his private detective, Brett learns that the Rat was once a prosperous broker, Stephen Pierce. Brett recognizes the name and laughs exultantly. With the failure of the kidnaping attempt and no more visits from Brett, Felicia believes that her husband has abandoned his opposition. Dick notices a change in her, an interest in Reno festivities, that makes him anxious. He has to go away on a business trip, but wishes that he did not have to leave her. Restless in Dick's absence, Felicia accepts an invitation from young Peg Hodge to drive with her and two college boys. Her escort, Billy Blair, is openly admiring. When he offers her his flask, she hesitates, then takes it and drinks. Under the influence of the liquor and a spirit of devil-may-care, she permits Billy to kiss her. Then follows a bathing party at night and a separation into pairs. Billy makes love to Felicia and she returns his mad kisses. The next night the pleasure-mad crowd goes to an inn on the California-Nevada line. Billy takes Felicia into a private room and tells her he is crazy about her. Her scream when he attempts to embrace her is heard by Dick, who has stopped at the inn on his way back from his business trip. Dick takes her home. In a frank and reconciling talk a few days later, they agree to keep themselves clear from the dangerous side of Reno life. Brett, awaiting developments in a hotel at Lake Tahoe, overhears a young wife expressing bitterly her opinion of her aged husband. He wonders if Felicia feels like that. Testing out his own powers of attraction, he begins an affair with an ex-follies girl and is dis- The Desert Rat attempts to stab Brett after his old hatred for him is aroused. Felicia persuades the Desert Rat not to harm Brett, and Brett, terrorized by the ferocity of his ancient enemy's attack, flees.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXIV.

ADRIENNE HENLEY-MARTIN'S voice seemed to come from another world. "Felicia! Felicia!"

Felicia, looking into Dick Stuyvesant's eyes, made no sound.

"Felicia! Where are you?"

"Dearest girl!" Dick kissed her solemnly. "I'm glad you love me and trust me as you do—but I think I'm glad your mother is here, now!"

"Felicia!"

"We're down here by the shore," Dick called. "Anything the matter?" He got up and walked through the darkness toward the approaching figure.

"Good heavens, I've been calling and calling!" Adrienne Henley-Martin scolded. "Dick, you mustn't disappear with Felicia like this! Some people have just arrived at the ranch house and John—" (Mrs. Henley-Martin never called J. B. by his nickname) "has recognized one of them as a detective."

"I'm sorry," said Dick.

"And I'm sorry to come chasing out after you, as if you were a pair of infants!" Adrienne patted Dick's hand. "But Alexander Brett is dangerous and I don't want Felicia to take any chances. He can make things awfully unpleasant for her."

How to make things unpleasant for Felicia was exactly what was occupying Alexander Brett's mind just then, to the exclusion of any other idea. Her friendship with Stephen Pierce, the Desert Rat, had been the last straw; the thought of Pierce, his ancient enemy, blocking his way to possession of his own son, was unbearable.

He realized that after his discovery on the road, in the arms of Zelda O'Day, Felicia would never return to him, even if he could prevent the granting of her divorce, unless—unless—

The boy was his only chance. He saw that clearly. Only by gaining possession of little Alex and denying Felicia a sight of her son except at his side, as his wife, could he force Felicia to bend to his will. He knew she hated him. In a way, he hated her, yet he wanted her back—she was his rightful property. She had wounded his pride. And a yearning for revenge surged in his heart blotting out all other feelings, even caution.

She should pay for her conduct, for her defiance!

His room telephone rang.

"Mr. Trask to see you, sir."

"Send him up."

Brett paced the floor impatiently, awaiting the appearance of his chief detective.

Detectives flourished in Reno, second only to blackmailers and adventurers. Trask, reflected Brett, must be an addict to American moving pictures; his flat feet, his dead cigar, the solemn expression which bespoke recollections of sinister happenings on moonless nights, were all true to form. He looked so much like a detective that one would almost doubt him!

"Your wife's at the R-X Ranch—with her mother, the boy, Pierce, Berkeley and Stuyvesant," the detective told him.

Brett received this information calmly.

"Can't get a thing on 'em!" Trask admitted, gloomily. "They travel in gangs — picnics, riding parties, all that sort of bunk. Either they're darned clever, or——" He, too, left his sentence suspended.

"Hmm!" said Brett. He was smiling grimly to himself — planning, planning. "Trask, I am that boy's father and I've every right to have him."

"Sure," said the detective, equably, chewing at his cigar. He would agreed as composedly to anything.

"Those men you got for me—before—made a mess of things!"

Trask shrugged. "They weren't playin' in luck, that's all," he said.

"They were a couple of fools!" Brett retorted. "I hope they rot in jail!" His eyes narrowed. "I think I'll pick my own men — next time," he said, slowly.

"Suit yourself."

Brett nodded, deep in thought. "This part of Reno they call Below the Line, Trask—what is it?"

The detective spat into the wastebasket. "You better lay off," he advised.

"I wasn't asking your opinion—I pay you for information!"

Trask's face was bland. "You're the doctor. You don't get no police protection, below the line. If you're lookin' for thugs, you can stop the first guy you meet—or the second or the twentieth! Don't make no difference."

"Is dynamite explosive?" retorted Trask. "You couldn't pay me to go down there!"

Brett raised his eyebrows. There was, then, something Trask would not do for pay?

"I can find you a coupla guys—just give me a line on what you want and I'll fit the picture."

Brett shook his head. "There's too much at stake to risk any more bungling. I wonder—" He stood, lost in thought. "That's all," he dismissed the detective shortly. "I'll call you when I need you again. Continue to keep an eye on things—especially on Mrs. Brett and Stuyvesant." He turned his back to the departing agent and walked to the window.

There was too much at stake! This time, there must be no bungling. He must get the boy—disappear with him to Europe. Then, with little Alex safely hidden away in a school—perhaps, even, under another name—he could return and make Felicia dance!

His lips twitched. Darn it, the boy was his son! Alexander Brett, junior. . . .

He hanged his fist on the palm of his hand. He was through with clumsy hired men! He would do this job, himself—and have it done properly.

Taking a key from his pocket, he unlocked his trunk; his thin fingers explored the tray, lifted a revolver. He loaded it slowly, thrust it into his pocket. Then he went to the telephone.

"Have my car brought around. I'm going for a drive."

"The car is here, Mr. Brett."

He grunted, cast a last glance about the room, and locked the door behind him. A grim old man with lips pressed tightly together, a slight bulge—which might have been a flask—at his hip, he turned the machine toward the R-X Ranch.

Daily Short Story

Bennie's Big Moment

By WILLIAM ALLEN WARD

BENNIE SMITH lived over the viaduct . . . a long, long way over the viaduct. His was a humble home in a bungalow addition near the end of the suburban trolley line. Bennie had remained in school until he finished the grammar grades. Then he got a job in a downtown drug store dispensing soda. He became a soda-jerker at $15 a week and worked long hours to help keep the wolf from the door of the humble home in the suburbs where he and his father and mother and little sister lived.

But Bennie had heard the call of romance, and life to him was sad for he loved a girl who had steadfastly declined his attentions. He met her one night at the home of a mutual friend. Her name was Mary Vance and she lived, so Bennie was told, "clear across the city." It was whispered that her father had made a fortune in Texas oil and that she lived in a mansion in beautiful Highland Park, that stretched like a necklace studded with lovely homes.

"She will never know that I am a poor boy," whispered Bennie during his lunch hour one day as he took a stroll in the downtown section, "she will never know that I live across the viaduct in the suburbs and make a living jerking soda. . . ."

Bennie's whispered conversation to himself was cut short. He caught his breath and looked at the neighboring street intersection. Mary Vance was approaching. She was smiling! Bennie's heart pushed upward to the place where his palate ought to be.

"She'll never know I am a poor boy," Bennie whispered.

Then, parked by the curb, he saw an expensive roadster—the kind of an automobile owned by rich people. The car was unlocked. Bennie was doing some fast thinking. Mary approached.

Bennie braced himself for the grandstand stunt he planned.

"Hello Bennie," Mary said as she drew near.

Bennie opened the door to the expensive roadster and stepped inside. Mary would never know but what it was his own car. Then he greeted Mary with enthusiasm, assuming the attitude he had just noticed her.

"What are you doing in this car?" questioned Mary in a perplexed tone.

Bennie realized he was taking a great chance. A detective might happen along any moment and ask all sorts of embarrassing questions. But Bennie figured Mary would leave within a moment or two and then he could step out of the car and she would be none the wiser.

"What are you doing in this car?" again asked Mary.

"Oh, it's mine!" Bennie lied with a smile, "just bought it a few days ago—pretty fair car, but it doesn't run quiet fast enough—think I'll buy me another one before long."

Mary hesitated. Then she smiled and said in her most delightful manner, "Bennie, would you mind taking me home?"

Bennie was silent just a second. Then he replied: "Certainly not—with great pleasure."

Away they traveled through the crowded downtown streets—then off on the broad boulevards to the exclusive residential sections to Mary's home in Highland Park. Bennie was in heaven! No matter what might happen to Bennie in the next world he already had walked the golden street of paradise and had heard the angels sing.

Bennie, in those brief minutes, sipped deeper from the wine of life than some men drink in a lifetime. He felt the pulsating beat of a heart, afire with love, and lived more in those brief minutes than he had lived during the 23 years of his life. Some men live more in one flaming 15 minutes than they do in all the rest of their life combined. Such a man was Bennie Smith. He loved Mary Vance devoutly. When she smiled at him, heaven smiled and life was a woodlawn path strewn with roses. Bennie Smith was happy — very, very happy. He forgot that he had lied about the car—forgot that he was poor—forgot that he might be arrested for stealing an automobile.

But all things, good or bad, have an end. Bennie stopped in front of the beautiful Vance home long enough for Mary to leave the car. She waved him a friendly goodby. Then Bennie started on the return trip.

Bennie was happy, although a bit uneasy. He raced back to the very spot from which he had taken the automobile and parked it with uneasy hands. No suspicious cop was standing near. Bennie returned to the drug store—back from the greatest adventure of his life.

"But mother, he's a wonderful boy," Mary said that evening, ". . . looked so perplexed when I asked him what he was doing in that automobile—I started to ask him: 'what are you doing in my automobile?' But I looked at the poor boy and I just couldn't be so cruel—I understood his act—I know he loves me—and how was he to know it was my car. Anyway he drove me home—he's a nice boy and I like him!"

But Bennie never knew—never knew whose automobile he had stolen.

WORLD'S SPEED STARS IN MILE RACE

WITH the conditioning period slipping by and the Waner brothers continuing to lose valuable training time pending the settlement of their salary differences with the Pittsburgh club, the only hope that the balking outfielders will be able to jump in and play real baseball at the start of the season should they sign before that date, seems to hinge on the possibility of their proving to be athletes of the type of Eddie Roush, of the Giants. That is, players who can lose spring training and yet appear to be none the worse for it when the time for actual competition arrives.

Eddie Roush

Roush always has been an exceptional pastimer in that respect. Frequently he has been late in reporting at camp, or has lost the routine preparatory work altogether, only to step in at the last minute and play as well as any of his mates. In two instances, his work was particularly impressive, as he actually led the National League in batting in spite of the loss of spring training. He was a Red holdout until after the practice trip in 1917, but he topped the circuit in swatting for the year with an average of .341. In 1919 he was again absent from camp, but the finish found him leading the hitters of the loop with a mark of .321.

ROUSH offers two reasons why he can afford to pass up the preliminary work, or a large part of it. "In the first place," he says, "I never have any weight to take off, because I am active all winter and don't pick up any extra poundage. In the second place, there is no sense in my being in camp before the pitchers are putting something on the ball.

"About all that I have to do each spring is to get my eye on the pill, and it's much easier to do that, and much better, too, when the pitchers are throwing hooks. I could stand at the plate with my eyes shut and hit the kind of pitching you get in a training camp during the first couple of weeks. I like to start swinging when the hurlers begin to shoot. Batting practice before that stage is a waste of time."

ACCORDING to the figures, and figures are supposed not to lie, Bellevue holds both an offensive and defensive advantage over Homestead, as those two crack high school basketball teams make ready to clash tonight in the final battle of the W. P. I. A. L. championship tournament in the Stadium pavilion.

Bill Campbell.

Not only has Bellevue outscored Homestead in three tourney games already played, 71 to 66, but Larry Danver's quintet also has been more successful than Bill Campbell's passers at holding its opponents in check. Bellevue's foemen have made only 36 points, while Homestead's opposition has scored 55.

SIX PLAYERS have taken part in the Bellevue scoring, flipping in 25 field goals and 21 out of 37 fouls. Seven men have scored for Homestead, ringing up a total of 22 field goals and 22 out of 34 fouls. This is a slightly better free-throw average than that boasted by Bellevue. The latter's foul-throwing average is .579 and Homestead's .647. Ken Updegraff, Bellevue's stellar guard, heads the North borough's scoring list with a point total of 18. He has thrown six field goals and six out of nine fouls. Brown, the center, has as many field goals, but only four out of five fouls. Smith, a forward, with five field goals and five out of 11 fouls, is third.

F[illegible]MESTEAD, Birch, also a guard, leads with 24 points, and is the second high scorer of the tourney. He has bagged seven field goals and 10 out of 16 free throws. This star, who seems to be the spark plug of the Steelers' machine, stands a fine chance of being the leading scorer, as he is likely to make half a dozen or more points tonight.

Johnston, a forward, has six field goals and two out of four fouls for 14 points, and Oates, the center, with three baskets and 5 out of 6 fouls, is third in Homestead's scoring. These three players have been the big guns in the attack of the Steeltown outfit.

THE very fact that Homestead, an admittedly good team, has not functioned right in any of its tourney games, might be interpreted to mean that the Steelers are due to "click" in tonight's contest. And by the same token, Bellevue may slip in this, the most important battle of the year. It's just about a toss-up, all things considered. Following are the scoring records of the finalists:

HOMESTEAD.

	Field Goals.	Fouls.	Total Pts.
Birch	7	10-16	24
Johnston	6	2-4	14
Oates	3	5-6	11
Bair	3	1-2	7
Delaney	2	2-2	6

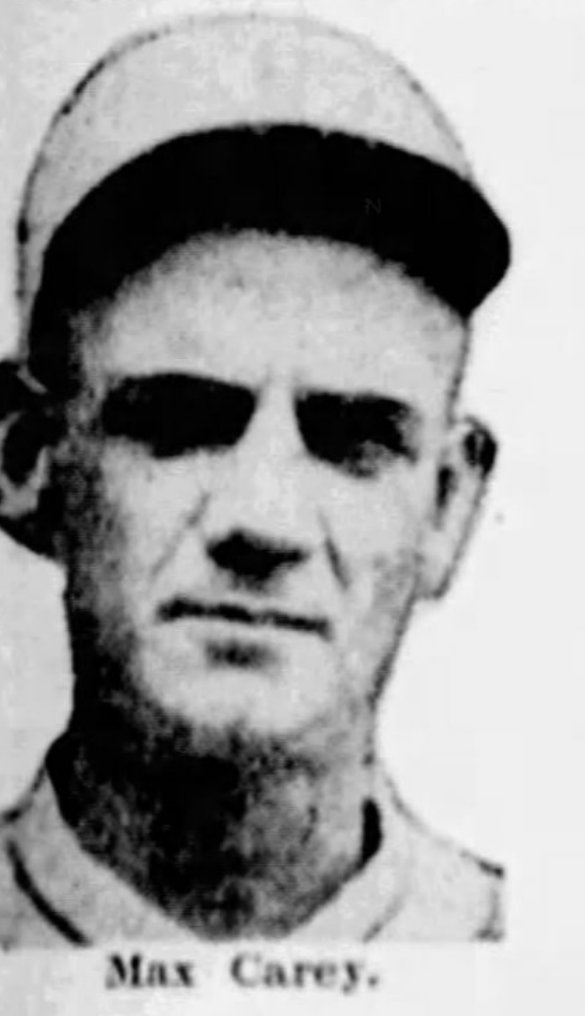
MAX CAREY, former Pirate star, is spending considerable time at the Brooklyn club's training camp trying to impart to the Robins some of his knowledge of the base-stealing art. The base-stealing art has almost passed out in these days of the lively ball, when clubs rarely play for one run, but a pilfered sack can still be made a big item in a game. It will be remembered that at Forbes Field in the seventh and deciding game of the 1925 world series, Carey showed the Washington club how such a stolen base can be made to mean. His steal of third behind Walter Johnson in the late innings may have appeared out of place at the instant, but it was the factor that really won the game and the world title for the Pirates. "It isn't always the material value of the steal that means so much," Max explains. "I know no better way to rattle the other team, and especially the pitcher, in a close game, than to steal a base at a critical period."



Max Carey.

ONE point that Carey is trying to impress upon the Robins, according to Tom Holmes, is the importance of touching the bag with the right foot while circling the paths. "Figure out for yourself the number of feet a runner cuts off if he touches the inside of the sack with his right foot," says the ex-Pirate.

"If he hits the base with his left foot, nine times out of ten he cuts over to the outside of the bag. If he doesn't he is apt to trip over the thing as his right foot passes above it. Then, too, the runner makes a smoother turn by swinging a little bit wider between the plate and first base and cutting across the inside of the bag. The stride of some players is such that they simply can't get the knack of crossing on the inside. But most runners can acquire the trick with a bit of practice.

BEFORE you can get away with a new world record these days you've got to see to it that there will be no room left for argument. Every detail has got to be perfect, and in compliance with the established requirements, or somebody will bob up to crab your act. Now there is said to be more than a little doubt as to whether the Whose demand for a salary of $25,000 has been met by the Brooklyn Robins, making him the highest paid pitcher in baseball. He refused to sign for $22,500. Vance has led the National League in strikeouts for the last seven seasons and last year won 22 games for a sixth-place club and led the league in the earned run averages.

Farrell, Smith Set Golf Pace

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 16.—(AP.)—Two of the greatest shot makers in the game led a field through a blinding rainstorm to top position in the Florida Open Golf tournament here yesterday. Johnny Farrell, of St. Augustine, National open champion, and Horton Smith, of Joplin, Mo., one of the youngest stars in the golfing firmament, matched stroke for stroke to finish with 70-72—142 each, in the opening 36-hole grind.

MRS. HUBBARD FINALIST

BROOKLINE, Mass., March 16.—(AP.)—Mrs. Charles J. Hubbard, Jr., of Cambridge, the top-seeded player in the women's national indoor singles tennis championship, reached the final round by defeating Mrs. Ary Lamme, of Rye, N. Y., 6-4, 6-4, on the Longwood courts.

Mrs. Hubbard will play in her second consecutive indoor final match against Margaret Blake, of Boston, the second seeded player, today.

As a result of the semi-final doubles matches, Mrs. George W. Wightman and Sarah Palfrey, both of Brookline, will defend their title against Mrs. Hubbard and Miss Blake in today's final.

Hall Leads Layton By 500-458 Score

NEW YORK, March 16.—(AP.)—Taking both of yesterday's blocks by wide margins, Allen Hall, of St. Louis, had a lead of more than 40 points over John Layton, world three-cushion billiard champion, at the end of the tenth block of their 600-point match. Hall had 500 points to 458 for Layton.

Hall took the afternoon block by a score of 50 to 39 in 48 innings. Last night Hall won, 50 to 27, in 40 innings.

Navy Bill Ingram To Return as Middie Coach

BALTIMORE, March 16.—(AP.)—William A. (Navy Bill) Ingram will again coach the Naval Academy football team in the 1929 season, his brother, Commander Jonas H. Ingram, announced last night upon his return from a conference at Navy Bill's home in Jeffersonville, Ind.

It was also announced that E. E. (Rip) Miller, former Notre Dame star who assisted in coaching the 1926 and 1927 teams, would return as line coach next fall, and Johnny Wilson, veteran of many Navy coaching staffs, would be backfield coach.

Spring football practice, to begin Monday, will be limited to men needing development.

The game gives promise of being nothing more than an exhibition affair, for the Bruin skaters have clinched top honors and the visitors are out of the running.

The Pirates are to close their season tomorrow night, when they meet the Rangers in New York. McCurry and McKinnon did not accompany the Bucs here.

HOMESTEAD, BELLEVUE SET FOR BATTLE

By JESS CARVER

Bellevue and Homestead battle tonight for the 1929 championship of the W. P. I. A. L. in basketball, clashing in the final round of the league's annual title elimination tourney. Bellevue represents Section II, Homestead Section VII. They'll pack 'em in out in the Stadium Pavilion, no question about that.

Each of the contesting fives in tonight's classic, for it is a classic, has won three games in the tourney, two early rounds and one semi-final battle. Bellevue, the most consistent of the two teams, has outscored and out-defended Homestead, ringing up a total of 71 points in three games against 36 for its opponents. Homestead has tallied 66 points and had 55 counted by its foemen.

Homestead, undefeated in its section during the regular league play, has been more or less disappointing during the elimination series, failing to

TIGER RANDALL BEATS PROFIO IN UPSET

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

A 1-to-5 shot went out in the middle of the ring in the packed Moose Temple arena last night and punched the top-heavy favorite full of holes to cop the decision of the judges and send the crowd of fans into ecstacies.

Joe Randall.

Tiger Joe Randall, of Elizabeth, Pa., an elusive little Negro junior-welterweight, who learned from a four-round bout in Motor Square Garden several months ago how to fight Dominick Profio, the knockout terror of Cecil, turned that knowledge to such good advantage that Profio, who had stopped Young Rudy and California Joe Gans in his two most recent battles, was beaten from the start and never had a chance until Randall tired in the last round and had to hold on until the bell.

Randall gauged the distance to a nicety and just managed to conserve his strength to get in under the wire with the decision. In a few more rounds, Profio would have stopped him in his weakened condition. But they were fighting only 10 rounds and what might have happened has no part in this story.

BOTH BADLY DAMAGED

Both were bady damaged at the finish. Randall's nose was dented, if not broken, and he was bleeding from it and his mouth and he was very weary, while Profio had cuts on both eyes and was bleeding from a lacerated nose and mouth over most of the route. Dominick was arm-weary, too, from the second round on, and, although he finished better than he had been going at any other time, he was not sorry to hear the final bell.

Profio, who has been in the main-bout ranks only a short time, and was making his second appearance under the management of James (Red) Mason, started off like a prima donna, boxing and fiddling instead of blazing away in his usual fashion, and Randall quickly put his own plan of battle into effect. This consisted of crowding Dominick all the time, shooting the left to the head and the right to the body and keep-

REMY KREMER TO START FOR PIRATES

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Staff Correspondent.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—The Rollicking Pirates, in San Francisco today, are eager to begin their long series with the Seals and Missions. The latter club, under the direction of President Manager Red Killifer, will entertain the Buccos this afternoon at Recreation Park.

Spending most of yesterday at Monterey, training site of the San Francisco Seals, the Buccos did much to avenge that 10-to-1 affair at Paso Robles this week. The Bushwhackers, with Joe Dawson and Fred Fussell pitching like champions, trimmed the Coast League titleholders, 2 to 0, in a fine game of ball.

Ray Kremer

Aviator Joe worked the first five rounds, and was able to still the thunder in the bats of Jolley, Wingo, Langford, Suhr and the others by mixing his screw ball judiciously with his fine speed. Joe let the enemy down with two hits in the bigger portion of the battle.

FUSSELL IMPRESSIVE

And when Fussell stepped to the slab he was just as impressive. The squad of southpaw sluggers had anything but a good time as they chased Fred's curve ball all over the batter's box. Capt. Traynor scored both runs for the Buccos. Pie doubled in the fourth and tallied on Brickell's single. Traynor singled in the sixth, moved up on a passed ball and scored on an error.

Manager Bush this morning announced that one of his right-hand aces and a promising rookie left-hander would heckle the Killifer tribe from the mound.

Remy Kremer, in much better condition than he was last spring at this time, is slated to divide the battle with Larry French, Portland graduate.

11 GAMES IN 'FRISCO

Eleven games are scheduled here during the nine-day stay of the big leaguers. The two Sunday days will bring morning and afternoon contests. The Buccos will observe St. Patrick's Day tomorrow by meeting the Missions and Seals in the order named.

Barney Dreyfuss saw the clash at Monterey yesterday and then came on to San Francisco with his club. He was accompanied by Mrs. Dreyfuss and expects to remain here during the Buccos' stay. The owner will then accompany his men on the barnstorming jaunt through the South.

THREE LOCAL Y TEAMS WIN

NEW CASTLE, March 16.—Three Pittsburgh teams survived the first round of the annual Western Pennsylvania Y. M. C. A. basketball tournament here last night and will go into the semi-finals this afternoon.

Hill Top, Sharpsburg and East Liberty were the clubs to come through with flying colors, Hill Top defeating Clearfield, 51 to 36; Sharpsburg downing Altoona, 44 to 23, and East Liberty swamping Dubois, 55 to 35.

Nine teams entered the tourney, Johnstown being the other entry.

Today's games will bring together East Liberty and Sharpsburg, and Hill Top will meet the winner of the Juniata-Johnstown second-round game. Juniata eliminated New Castle in the first round, 47 to 30.

AMATEUR ICE TITLE PRIZE TONIGHT

By CARL W. SHATTO.

The second game of the West Penn Amateur Hockey League's championship series, featuring the Philadelphia Company and Hornet sextets, will be played on Duquesne Garden ice this evening, and it probably will be the last hockey game to be played in Pittsburgh this season. In the first game of the titular set last Tuesday, Philadelphia Company puckmen showed marked superiority over the rivals in ringing up a 5-0 triumph, and they will be odds-on favorites to repeat the triumph tonight and end the series and the ice season here.

HORNETS HAVE CHANCE

Followers of the Hornets, who refuse to have their favorites counted out after one fray, point out that the Garden representatives played under a severe handicap in the first series game in that they were without the services of the Coulter brothers, their two aces, until late in the second period. With the Coulters in the lineup from start to finish the Hornets may have a chance to break into the win column, but it will be nothing more than an outside chance, for Red Manners, Wallie Kilrea and Silver McCrimmon have scored with great frequency when opposed to the Hornets, and the "underdogs" will have to do considerable tallying to offset the scoring activities of the Philadelphia Company forwards.

PIRATES TO OFFICIATE

Duke McCurry and Johnny McKinnon, Pirate stars who did not accompany their mates to Boston, will referee tonight's game, which promises to be fast and bitterly contested. The probable lineup:

Philadelphia Co.		Hornets.
Brooks	G	Frazier
McGovern	D	Campbel
D. Manners	D	McCutcheon
Kilrea	C	T. Coulter
R. Manners	W	J. Coulter
McCrimmon	W	Martin

SCHOOLS SET FOR FINAL

"click" in the manner it did during the regular season. Bellevue lost one game in Section II, Edgewood taking a game after the North Boroughs quintet had clinched the championship.

Dunbar Township, Harding High, of Aliquippa, and Uniontown were vanquished by Bellevue in the preliminary rounds. Homestead eliminated Monessen, Ford City and Fifth Avenue. Bill Campbell's team staged the most spectacular second half rally of the tourney in defeating Fifth, coming from nine points in the rear to win out by two.

It would appear that Bellevue, because of its very impressive consistency, would be favored over Homestead tonight, but the loyal Steelers are reported basking their team with even money. Eighth Avenue, I have been informed, has pooled its resources and will lay even money.

BIRCH-UPDEGRAFF MEET

The game will bring into opposition two fine guards, Birch of Homestead and Updegraff of Bellevue. These two have been the mainstays of their respective teams during the season. Birch is the second high scorer of the tourney, with 24 points. Updegraff has totaled 18 for Bellevue.

No lineup changes are contemplated by either coach for the game, so the teams likely will take the floor as follows:

Homestead		Bellevue.
Bair	F	Smith
Johnston	F	Seigel
Oates	C	Brown
Birch	G	Updegraff
Sertich	G	Burch

The winner of tonight's battle as W. P. I. A. L. champion, will participate in the state tourney here next Friday and Saturday. Hazelton and Lansdowne will meet at Hazelton tonight in District 1 to settle the title in that division; Altoona and Lewistown in District VI and Sharon and Erie Academy in District VIII. Districts II, III, IV and V crowned champions last night.

On Tuesday, the Northwestern champions, either Sharon or Erie will meet the W. P. I. A. L. champion in a special game in the Stadium. The Northwestern tourney finals are on for tonight at Grove City.

THREE TOURNEYS CLOSE

The annual Washington County tournament will close with the playing of the finals tonight. This event, staged under the direction of the Washington County Interscholastic Athletic Association, drew a fine entry list this year, with three defending class champions, Donora of Class I, California of Class II and Ellsworth-Cokeburg of Class III, on hand.

The big Allegheny Kiski Valley tournament, which has been going on since Wednesday at New Kensington High school and the annual West Virginia State tournament at West Virginia Wesleyan, Buckhannon, also end competition for 1929 with tonight's contests.

Sonnenberg Beats Malciewicz Easily

BOSTON, March 16.—(AP.)—Gus Sonnenberg, heavyweight wrestling champion, successfully defended his title last night by dropping Joe Malcewicz, of Utica, N. Y., twice in less than 32 minutes of grappling.

Sonnenberg's first fall resulted from an inside crotch and body slam in 21 minutes and 20 seconds and he gained his winning fall with his famous flying tackle in 25 seconds.

Yale Captures Swimming Title

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 16.—(AP.)—Yale for the fifth consecutive year was crowned intercollegiate swimming champion by defeating Rutgers in Carnegie pool here last night through disqualification of Rutgers in the relay for not touching the end of a pole. The points went to Yale and brought the score to 31 each, the judges ruling the Elis won the meet.

HOMESTEAD SHOOT

The annual merchandise trophy shoot of the Homestead Park Rod and Gun Club is being staged this afternoon at the club grounds, Superior street, Homestead Park. A 50-bird race, 25 from 16 yards from handicap, is one of the features.

W. VA. TOURNEY ADVANCES TO SEMI-FINALS

BULLETIN.

BUCKHANNON, W. Va., March 16.—Wheeling High School, defending champion, entered the final round of the West Virginia State interscholastic tournament here this morning when it defeated Washington-Irving in the first semi-final game, 44 to 19.

BUCKHANNON, W. Va., March 16.—Four teams remain in the fight for the West Virginia state basketball title after the second round and tri-finals had been played. This morning found Wheeling and Washington Irving fighting it out for the right to enter the final tilt in the upper bracket, while Keyser and Elkins are opponents in the lower bracket. The ropsters pick Wheeling and Elkins to meet in the final, although Wheeling, the tourney favorite, looked way off form in the tri-final appearance against Hamlin.

The Golden Knights will also be considerably weakened by the loss of Martin, star guard, who sprained his ankle in the last period of last night's play.

WELLSBURG BEATEN

A resume of the second round shows Mt. Hope taking a 26-to-18 victory from West Monongah. Washington Irving was barely able to nose out Wellsburg, 26 to 23, with Wheeling putting the damper on Bayard, 41 to 28. The morning session ended with Hamlin's 26-to-13 victory over Hinton.

Middlebourne gave Montgomery a neat lacing, 29 to 17, in what was more or less an upset. Keyser pulled one out of the fire when they trimmed Grafton, 21 to 19.

Elkins had little trouble with Parkersburg, winning, 39 to 25, while Shinnston closed the second round with a 35-to-31 victory over Alderson.

HAMLIN TOPPLES

In the tri-final round, Washington Irving opened the activities with a smart 35-to-23 win over Mt. Hope; Wheeling was forced to the limit to beat Hamlin, a group of long shot artists, 31 to 25. Middlebourne fell before Keyser, 25 to 18, and Elkins gave the tourney fans some real thrills by taking Shinnston, last year's runnerup, into camp, 29 to 16.

Three sectional winners and one runnerup will enter the semi-finals. The Clarksburg, Bethany, Potomac and Philippi sections are the respective regions that are represented.

Results of yesterday's contests follow: Class I—(first round) Canonsburg 31, Donora 23; Charleroi 16, Trinity 12.

Class II—(first round) East Washington 28, McDonald 22; Claysville 21, East Pike Run 15; California 40, Hickory 15; Union 26, Beneleyville 20.

Class III—(first round) West Alexander 18, Morris 14; Ellsworth-Cokeburg 32, Blaine 7; Midway 15, Beallsville 8; West Bethlehem 26, Peters Township 12.

HEIDELBERG MEETS AKRON

GAME TODAY.
National Amateur Cup.
Akron Goodyear at Heidelberg (Brannigan).

By TOM BIRKS

What stacks up as the biggest thing in soccer this season confronts the fans at Heidelberg this afternoon, when the Akron Goodyears, one of the finest clubs ever gathered together to represent Ohio, clashes with Heidelberg, former national amateur champion, in the fourth round of the national amateur cup, with the kickoff set for 3:30 o'clock.

The Rubber town officials formed this organization to take a crack at the two national competitions. Two weeks ago the Holley Carburetors, of Detroit, defeated the Akron boys in the open competition, and now, with only the amateurs left, it is surmised that the Green and Gold of Heidelberg is in for a strenuous afternoon.

With three former local boys in the lineup, the Blue and White clad invaders expect to duplicate their last visit to Western Pennsylvania when the Rubber boys, ably led by Robertson, defeated Dunlevy at Charleroi Park by a 3-goals-to-2 score, after an overtime period.

A fast, snappy eleven, that plays both scientific and cup tie soccer, the Goodyears are more than liable to stop Heidelberg's progress in the big tourney. But with a field that will be very heavy Heidelberg will extend the Buckeye State boys. Manager Belsarini seems confident his club will again enter the Western semi-final and meet the Corinthians. The game will start no earlier than 3:30 o'clock to take care of the out-of-town fans.

Profio looked like a rank novice as he missed repeatedly and stumbled about at the start of the second round, but got into the running midway in the session when he brought up his best punch, a short swishing right uppercut to the body, and hurt his opponent. Randall fought back but then clinched and covered. Profio failed to follow up his advantage vigorously and Randall was forcing the issue again at the bell, although he had been shaded in the round.

A left hook at the bell dazed Profio in the third and he retreated to the ropes, where Randall went to work with both fists. During the remainder of the round, Dominick stumbled and lumbered sadly about the ring, looking terrible for a highly-touted fighter, and, when the gong ended the round, he worked his tired arms above his head to loosen them up.

The fourth round was slow, with Profio still lumbering about and pawing the air and Randall doing what scoring was registered.

Profio's right eye was cut early in the fifth round, and Randall was bleeding from the mouth. Randall had the edge until the closing moments, when he slugged with Profio and was forced to break ground as the latter drove home a series of uppercuts. Profio thereby gained the honors.

Randall was boxing Profio silly in the sixth round until he ran into a stiff left to the head that dazed him in the final seconds and he had to hold on until the bell, Profio evening the round.

Randall punched Profio about at will in the seventh round, the latter appearing both clumsy and stupid in his efforts to put up anything like a good fight. The eighth round was a duplicate of the seventh, with Profio taking everything Randall shot at him and seemingly having lost what power was left in his own greatly-feared punch.

FINISH IS EXCITING

After this, with the fight "in," barring a knockout, Randall slowed down and coasted home, Profio taking the last two rounds. Randall appeared to be saving up in the ninth round for a hard finish and was content to let Profio be the aggressor. Once Profio missed a full right swing and was thrown completely off balance for a clean fall as Randall stepped back out of harm. Randall slipped as he withdrew into his own corner under a series of blows to the head and body at the bell.

The tenth round was the only one that had the fans up. Profio's left eye joined his right in mourning, being cut as the session opened, but he whaled desperately into Randall and slowed him down with a right under the heart, forcing him to hang on. With Randall clinching at every opportunity, Profio forced him about the ring and the crowd was up yelling madly for Dominick to turn the tables with a better-late-than-never knockout. Randall possessed the generalship to pull through in the emergency, however, and was so far ahead on points when the final bell rang that there was no question of his victory. Nor was there any question of Profio's ineptitude as a boxer. He is primarily a slugger and, unless he keeps on slugging from the start in his bouts, a lot of other fellows will outgallop him to win decisions over him, now that Randall has shown the way to do it.

SOLMEN EASY WINNER

The semi-final was short and sweet, Mickey Solmen, of New Castle, 150 pounds, winning by a technical knockout over Hugh Haggerty, of Lawrenceville, 148, in two punches in the opening round. A left hook sent Haggerty headlong to the floor, badly dazed, and he took a count of nine. As he arose, Solmen rushed in with a right to the jaw and sent him spinning to the floor in his own corner. Haggerty was obviously outclassed and in danger of being hurt from his head-first dives and the referee acted wisely in calling a halt.

Billy Deasy of the Hill, 169 pounds, handed Sam Hunter, Negro, also of the Hill, 179, a lacing throughout the six-round second bout, a grueling affair full of clinches and near-knockouts. Deasy almost finished Hunter in the first minute of the fight and then punched himself out on him without being able to finish the job.

Nat Litfin outpunched Sammy Paris, his Hill district rival, in the six-round opener, mainly with the use of an advantage in height and reach and a straight right to the head after he had got off to a bad start. He scaled 117¼ pounds and Paris 121.

Joe Keally refereed all of the bouts. The judges were Frank Brown and Frank Ferris. Spike Eberle did the announcing and Chappy Couch was timer. It was announced that Cuddy DeMarco and Tony LaRose, the latter of Cincinnati, will fight the main bout next Friday night. Hundreds of fans were turned away from last night's show after the standing room space had been sold out.

NANTICOKE BEATEN

SCRANTON, Pa., March 16.—(AP.)—East Stroudsburg defeated the favored Nanticoke High School team, 35 to 31, in the Col. L. A. Watres Armory here last night and captured the championship of District 2, P. I. A. A.

Tom Heeney May Be Disfigured From Injury

NEW YORK, March 16.—(AP.)—An infection that may cause disfigurement has set in in the deep wound Tom Heeney, New Zealand heavyweight, suffered inside his lip in a 10-round match with Otto Van Porat, Norwegian slugger, last Tuesday.

Heeney was treated here by Dr. Edward King at a hospital and ordered to bed for several days. The physician told Charley Harvey, manager of the battler, that plastic surgery would be necessary if the infection spread further.

The cut, a v-shaped gash inside the lip extending up from the base of the gum, required 15 stitches to close after a bout Von Porat won in decisive fashion. Dr. King told Harvey that he believed the infection could be arrested.

SCHNEIDER FIVE MEETS Y.M.H.A.

By JULIUS LEVIN.

The Young Men's Hebrew Association basketball team, winner of the A. A. U. and Institutional League championship this winter, will face one of its hardest tests of the season tonight when it clashes with the Schneider Club, of the West Penn League, on the Y. M. H. A. floor.

The Y. M. H. A. team is entered in the national Y. M. H. A. tournament scheduled in Atlantic City on March 30 and 31 and tonight's contest is the first of a series of games arranged to provide expenses for the trip to the seashore.

Next Tuesday night the Bellefielders meet the College All-Stars, including Charley Hyatt, Les Cohen, Milt Cohen and Ferraro, of Pitt; Fox, of Carnegie Tech, and Lubic and Rosenberg, of Duquesne. The game will be played on the Y. M. H. A. court.

PENN AT COMMUNITY

Three University of Pittsburgh basketball stars are scheduled to play important parts in the North Side Community House-Penn Five game on the Community House floor tonight.

Charley Hyatt, brilliant forward of the Panthers and regarded as the greatest basketball star in the country, will appear in the uniform of the Community quintet, while Ferraro and Arture, two of his teamates on the Panther machine, will play for the Penn passers. Community defeated Penn last Monday night and the Sharpsburg boys will be out to get revenge tonight.

The Community House Institutional League entry will be a strong opponent in the preliminary game.

PLAYOFF DATES CHOSEN

The post-season series for the Commercial-Industrial League championship between Kaufmann's, winners of the first round, and Duquesne Light winner of the second round, will start next Tuesday night at the South Side Market House. The second game will be played at Columbus Temple, Thursday night.

The two teams shape up as all-star aggregations and they should present a series that should be nip-and-tuck throughout. Followers of the two teams are keyed up over the important series and indications are that both games will draw capacity crowds.

In event the two teams split even in the first games a third contest will be staged on a neutral floor.

DRIBBLES

The Miele-Franchinas and the Enoch Rauhs will stage the fifth and deciding game of their five-game series at Columbus Temple Monday night. The two teams split even in four Allegheny County League games.

Champions of two leagues will battle for the Monongahela Valley laurels starting Monday night when the Duquesne Lafayettes, Allegheny County League champs, meet the M. J. Conleys, winners of the title in the P. & O. League. The first game will be played at Duquesne High School and the second in the Homestead Elks Temple on Thursday.

Mrs. Jones Sets Record at Tampa

TAMPA, Fla., March 16.—(AP.)—A pair of golfing aces from Chicago—Mrs. Melvin Jones and Mrs. Lee Mida, battled their way into today's final round of the annual Florida Women's championship links event.

Mrs. Jones was out in 38, an all-time women's record here, and was 7 up on Mrs. Leland Morrow at the turn yesterday. She won 8 and 7.

Greensburg Grid Stars Get Awards

GREENSBURG, Pa., March 16.—Eighteen lettermen of the 1928 Greensburg High School football squad have been presented hammered silver footballs by the Greensburg Kiwanis club. The awards are the first given to the squad outside of the regular letters given by the school last fall.

WASHINGTON PLAY NEARS FINAL

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 16.—With some of the finest basketball in the history of the county being played, the annual tournament of the Washington County Interscholastic Athletic Association is in full progress here, champions of three divisions to be determined in the play which will be concluded tonight.

Survivors are as follows:

Class II (schools with student bodies from 100 to 350)—California, Claysville, Cecil and Union, of Burgettstown.

TOSSUP IN CLASS II

Monongahela and Canonsburg are being picked to meet in the final of Class I tonight, while the race in Class II is pretty much of a tossup, with the four teams that remain in the running about evenly matched.

Play in the early rounds in the tourney has been unusually spirited, but there have been few real upsets. One of these saw East Washington eliminated by Cecil Township High, which had not received any consideration, while East Washington was conceded a good chance to reach the final.

DONORA BEATEN

In one of the outstanding games, Canonsburg defeated Donora, 31 to 23. Donora won the championship last year and, with a veteran team, was expected to make a bid for the title. Johnny Anderson's boys played fine ball, with Lytle especially brilliant, but the lanky Gunners had too many arms and were too good shots.

A-K. TOURNEY ENDS TONIGHT

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., March 16.—In four remarkable games played here last night, 14 emerged victorious as semi-finalists for games to be played this afternoon, in the Allegheny-Kiski valley tournament.

With the elimination of 26 other entrys, Ken High, Sykesville, Kittanning and Franklin won the right to compete in the semi-final game.

Ken High defeated Oil City, 19 to 13, forging ahead in the final stages of the combat after the Oilers had steadily closed the gap that had existed in early stages of the game.

KITTANNING VICTOR

Kittanning walked away to a well-earned victory over Har-Brac Union, pulling away after the initial quarter, which ended 4 to 2, in Union's favor.

Sykesville vanquished Blairsville, 16 to 11, in a combat featured by a great last-minute spree by the victors.

In the feature game of the evening, Tarentum bowed to Franklin, 1927-28 champions, in an extra-period game which set the fans mad with excitement. The score was 23 to 21.

In five games yesterday afternoon, Kittanning toppled Brockway, 27 to 11; Har-Brac defeated Parnassus, 16 to 14, in a thrilling battle; Tarentum beat Falls Creek, 15 to 11; and Franklin trampled Apollo, 29 to 10.

SEMI-FINALS TODAY

Ken High meets Kittanning and Sykesville meets Franklin in semi-final frays this afternoon. The consolation semi-finals will also be played this afternoon. Tonight the final round of both divisions will be the attraction.

Yesterday's results indicate that all title struggles today will be closely contested as none of the four semi-finalists have any great edge over its rival. Franklin and New Kensington may be classed as slight favorites.

PITCAIRN TOPS ERIE

New Chicago Fight Club Puts Clamp Down on Radio

CHICAGO, March 16. — (AP.)—Directors of the Chicago Stadium Corporation have announced through President Paddy Harmon that broadcasting of fights in the new $7,000,000 building will be barred for the present.

This edict will prevent ringside descriptions by radio of the Tommy Loughran-Mickey Walker 10-round fight for the light-heavyweight championship of the world March 28.

SACRAMENTO PLAYERS HURT IN SMASHUP

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Staff Correspondent.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—Joe Harris was in one bad auto smashup in France, but Joe, now a member of the Sacramento club, was fortunate in not being one of the Sacramento players in the car which collided with a street car yesterday. Five of the athletes were injured.

Pete Scott.

Barney Dreyfuss did not experience any pleasant thrills in seeing his favorites sideswiped by the Seals in Paso Robles, but he was in good humor as he sat with Charley Graham, one of the owners of the coast champions. After the battle ended, Dreyfuss suggested that he trade teams with Graham. Duster Mails said it would be a good deal if Barney would "throw in the Waner Boys."

Pete Scott and Eddie Mulligan, members of the Mission Club, are said to be eager to swat their former buddies. Scott, according to the press of the Golden Gate City, is not altogether satisfied with the treatment accorded him while he represented the Buccos. Mulligan perhaps did not make a big hit with the Pirate owners when, in a general discussion on the reported $35,000 demand of the Waner Brothers, Eddie declared that Paul was worth that much himself. Mulligan probably was not talking for publication in the little discussion, but his views reached the prints, nevertheless.

FATHER AND SON PLAY

Elmer Jacobs, former Pirate pitcher, who long has been a star in the Coast League, now has a son on the pitching staff of the Los Angeles club.

"He's only 17," said Jake yesterday, "but he's 6 feet 3 and has many of the actions of a future pitcher." It is remarkable to have father and son in the same league as active players, but if the time should come when it would be Jake's turn to work with his boy opposed, he would step aside.

Much improvement is noted in the play of Comorosky, Bartell and Brickell this year. Commy is hitting the ball with zip, which is good news to Pilot Bush, especially in view of the absence of the Waner boys. Bartell hit for a good average last season, but he did not have the power he has displayed this year. The youngster has taken on a few pounds and has developed a better swing.

SCHMIDT STILL STAR

One of the outstanding athletes on the field at Monterey yesterday was Walter Schmidt. The former Pirate receiver does not appear to be any older and his weight is the same as he carried during his major league career. Schmidt is a lesson in clean living for the boys coming up.

Walter has played ball for more than 20 years, yet right now he is a much better catcher than many of the maskmen in the big show. Comorosky, a speeder, tried to swipe second on Walter in the first round, but Schmidt threw a strike to second and the Polish flyer was nicked.

The strain of squatting is supposed to be hard on a catcher's legs but Schmidt's are in rare shape and he still has much dash.

Bodies of Two Speed Victims Taken Home

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 16.—(AP.)—The bodies of Lee Bible, driver of the ill-fated Triplex racer, and Charles Traub, Newsreel cameraman, killed at the speed trials here, are en route to the homes of their relatives for burial.

Bible's body is being taken to Rader, Tenn., while that of Traub goes to Indianapolis.

The men were killed when the 36-cylinder racing car with which Bible was attempting to break the world speed record of 231 miles an hours, got out of control and crashed on the beach. Traub, who was photographing the trials, was struck by the speeding machine.

A public subscription, started as a benefit to Bible's widow and two children, totaled more than $1,000 last night.

AL SINGER BEATS BUD TAYLOR

NEW YORK, March 16.—(AP.)—Al Singer, sleek, black-haired little New Yorker, stood up under a drum fire of body punches and pulled out a blistering 10-round decision over Bud Taylor, blonde punching terror from Terre Haute, in a slugfest that proved his gameness beyond all question to the 20,000 roaring customers who flooded the big fight palace here.

The clean-cut Jewish lad came back to prove himself Taylor's master in a grueling punchfest that tested the New York idol's mettle to the utmost. The decision was received amid a rousing volley of boos, part in sympathy with Taylor's courageous stand, part in the belief that the blonde Westerner had at least earned a draw.

Ringside critics were divided in their opinions, some believing that Taylor, through his aggressiveness and heavy left hand punching to the body, had taken Singer's measure. The element of doubt even crept into the officials' decision, one voting for Taylor, while the referee and second judge awarded the melee to the New York youth.

SHARON PLAYS ERIE FIVE

GROVE CITY, Pa., March 16.—The next schoolboy championship basketball tournament team of Northwestern Pennsylvania will be either Sharon or Erie Academy, as a result of the elimination games here last night in the fourteenth annual tournament of four sectional winners of the 10 counties in the district. Erie defeated St. Mary's, 28-12, and Sharon topped Punxsutawney, 25-23.

Based on their play, both teams are keen, well-coached and have a versatile attack. Sharon would have the slight edge, in the fact that they won the event last season.

Long's Sport Comment

remarkable discus-throwing feat of Eric Krenz will be allowed to stand.

In competition against the Olympic Club at Palo Alto last Saturday, Krenz hurled the discus for a sensational new mark of 163 feet 8⅞ inches, more than five and a half feet better than the old world record of 158 feet 1¾ inches, set in the same place three years ago by Bud Houser. But, according to latest reports, official measurement has disclosed that the ring was a half-inch too large, and on that account the Stanford giant's achievement may not be accepted as record.

Edvin Wide.

NOW comes one instance in which the title of "The Mile of the Century" appears not to be an exaggeration as applied to a footrace. As the high spot of the Knights of Columbus games at Madison Square Garden in New York tonight, there will be a one-mile race bringing together Ray Conger, Edvin Wide, Eino Purje, Galen Elliott, Leo Lermond and Joe Hickey. The field lacks only Paavo Nurmi, who passed up the mile to run in the 5,000-meters event tonight, to make it the greatest that could be sent to the starting line. Even without Nurmi it's a wonder, and ought to produce a sensational struggle, with the going narrowing down to Conger, Wide and Purje. Doubt about the condition of one of Wide's ankles appears to give an edge in the dope to Conger, who has already defeated Nurmi and Lloyd Hahn, but one of the most thrilling races in recent years with the winner doing 4:17 or better is promised before victory goes to anybody.

LOW WEIGHT FOR MELLOW BATTLE

Ray Newton, of Mansfield, O., and Johnny Mellow, of Detroit, will weigh in at 133 pounds, give or take one-half pound, for their 10-round windup bout at McKeesport next Thursday night. They are very light lightweights. Mellow will be welcomed back by the fans of McKeesport, with whom he is a favorite.

All of the bouts on the wrestling card at the Moose Temple Monday night will be one-fall affairs, with the preliminaries limited in time and the windup to a finish. The winner of the main event, between Jim Clinstock, the Indian, and Jack Washburn, of Chicago, has been promised a return engagement here with an opponent to be picked from among Jimmy Londos, Joe Malciewicz and Joe Stecher.

Al Webster, of Billings, Mont., and George Perotta, of New Castle, will meet in the windup at the Jolly Bowl, New Castle, Monday night. Webster also is matched with Eddie Bow at Johnstown, March 28.

Johnny Dunn, of New Kensington, boxes Mickey Dugan, of Cleveland, in one of the two eight-round bouts at Oil City next Tuesday night. Young Rudy and Johnny Kusic will box the other feature number.

Dan Billick, Duquesne featherweight, knocked out Lou Barre, of Hartford, Conn., in the seventh round of their bout at Jersey City Thursday night. Joey La Grey won the decision over Mule Brown, in New York, the same night.

Johnson to Return Against Ice Pirates

NEW YORK, March 16.—(AP.)—Ching Johnson, crack defense man of the New York Rangers, who has been out of action most of the season with a broken left ankle, will return to the world champions' lineup here tomorrow night against Pittsburgh in the final game of the National Hockey League season. If the ankle bears up under the strain, Johnson will start Tuesday night in the first of two Stanley Cup playoff games with the New York Americans.

MERCUR WINS TITLE

ORMOND BEACH, Fla., March 16.—(AP.)—Fritz Mercur, of Bethlehem, Pa., had a tough time defeating Willmer Allison, Austin, Tex., to win the Florida East Coast tennis championship. The score was 1-6, 7-5, 6-8, 8-6, 6-1.

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Stocks Irregular

Wall Street Quotations

PROFIT TAKING TURNS STOCKS IRREGULAR

NEW YORK, March 16.—(AP.)—Heavy week-end profit-taking caused considerable irregularity in today's stock market. Selling pressure was particularly effective against the motor and chemical shares, while the coppers, oils and rubbers gave the best exhibitions of group strength.

The belief is widely entertained in Wall Street that next week will witness another stringency in call money, some observers forecasting rates as high as 12 to 15 per cent. Call money held steady yesterday at 7 per cent, but the time money rate was stepped up to 8 per cent, even for the 90-day maturities. Now tha tthe mid-month tax payments and government financing are out of the way, many bankers would no t be surprised to see an increase in rediscount rates, particularly if stock speculation continued at a 6,000,000 share daily rate.

With copper now selling at 21 cents a pound, assuring immense profits for most of the leading producers, there was a revival of activity and strength in the copper shares, Anaconda, Chile and Kennecott al moving into new high ground on gains ranging from 2 to 3½ points. Greene Cananae jumped 8¾ and Calumet and Arizonia 6 points. Attention was called by several commission houses to the fact that the period of peak demand for copper is near, and that new commitments in that group should be made with extreme caution.

Otis Elevator soared 18 points, Goodyear Rubber, which is expected to earn $20 or $25 a share this year, advanced 4½ points to a new high at 145. Canada Dry Gingerale moved into new high ground.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, March 16.—With crop reports not sufficiently unfavorable to bring about energetic buying, wheat prices kept steady today in the early dealings. One summary from an important section of Kansas said the wheat crop outcome there depended on whether the present stand stooled well. Opening unchanged to ⅛c off, wheat values later showed slight upturns. Corn and oats were easy, with corn starting at ⅛c off to a shade advance. The provision market was nominal.

According to advices today from a Chicago expert telegraphing from Wichita, Kan., and referring to one of the best wheat sections of the state, extending from Kingman to Wichita, where no concern has heretofore been expressed as to crop conditions, the present total of wheat acreage likely to be abandoned was about 20 per cent. The crop result for the entire distance, hung on the problem of how good the stooling proved and this could not be determined for 10 days yet or a fortnight, with growers, opening current that the stand would be light to fair.

Another Chicago crop authority wired today that from Newton, Kan., to Wichita and in a wide radius around Wichita wheat ranged from poor to fair, roots were shallow and much too small yet to prevail against dust blowing.

Spicer Manufacturing.

C. A. Dunn, president of Spicer Manufacturing Corporation, discussing the company's outlook for 1929, stated that operations were continuing at capacity. During the first two months this year sales showed an increase of 33 1-3 per cent over last year. He expects earnings to show a good gain over 1928, when the company reported profits equal to $6.20 a share on 375,750 shares of common stock. Eranings during the first quarter, he said, are expected to exceed net during the first quarter last year, and various economies in manufacturing should be reflected in increased profits later on. Discussing the prospect for common dividends, he said that he did not expect the management to give consideration to payments this year, as it was thought more desirable to retain surplus earnings for expansion, for strengthening the company's position and for increasing its earning power. The company makes automobile parts.

Farm Products Prices Higher in February.

The general average of prices received by producers of farm products was higher in February than in January, and approximately at last year's level, the index of farm prices being 136 for February compared with 133 for January and 135 for February, 1928, the Department of Agriculture has announced. This rise in the index was largely due to an advance between January 15 and February 15 in the farm prices of grains, particularly a six-cent advance in wheat prices and an advance of 70 cents per hundredweight in the price of hogs. Hay, potatoes, apples, sheep and lambs, horses and chickens, also showed moderate advances, and cotton prices advanced about 1¼ cents. The general average for March and April is expected to be maintained at its present level or somewhat higher. Last year the index rose from 135 in February to 140 in April and 148 in May, due to a rapid advance in grain prices, but such a movement is not in prospect this year.

Green Discusses Machine Age.

The development of mechanical equipment in industry and the effect it is having in displacing skilled and unskilled workers was reviewed by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, at the regular monthly luncheon of the Bond Club of New York. Mr. Green stated that the adoption of mechanical equipment is a logical development in industry and also that the Federation of Labor welcomes it and would not stop it if it could, but, he stated, officers and members of the organization believe that "the question of machine displacement should be considered by governmental authorities and a plan formulated by which substantial aid and assistance can be extended to those who have been displaced by machinery, in securing new employment suitable to their qualifications and abilities."

G. M. Holders Nearly Double.

The Wall Street Journal says: "There has been a spectacular gain in the number of common shareholders of General Motors Corporation since last November when the plan for splitting the stock 2½ for 1 was announced.

"As of February 16 the number of stockholders increased to 82,615, exceeding any previous record by more than 30,000. Never before have common shareholders been much in excess of 50,000. In less than three months, however, 34,246 names have been added to the list and the latest total compares with 48,169 on November 24, 1928, a gain of 71 per cent.

Baldwin Outlook Improves.

Samuel Vauclain, president of Baldwin Locomotive Company, expects the company to show substantial recovery in earnings this year. Although operations have been conducted at 20 per cent since the start of 1929, the company has booked 50 per cent more business thus far this year than in the first three months of 1928. Unfilled orders now are the largest since July, 1927. It is expected, therefore, that production will be materially stepped up. In 1928 net income totaled $322,210, or $1.66 on 200,000 shares of 7 per cent cumulative preferred versus $5.21 a share on 200,000 common shares in 1927 after preferred dividends.

Insurance Increases.

New insurance written by United States companies in February increased four-tenths of 1 per cent over February, 1928, and rose 9 per cent in January and February over the corresponding 1928 period, the Association of Life Insurance Presidents announces. Total new business in February by 44 companies doing 82 per cent of the total volume of life insurance outstanding in local reserve companies was $973,048,000, against $968,860,000 in February, 1928. For the two months the total was $1,997,526,000, against $1,832,466,000 last year.

Ford German Increase Planned.

The Ford Motor Company's German subsidiary will increase its capitalization to 12,000,000 marks from 5,000,000 and an offering of stock will be made through a German bank. Subscriptions are being received for stock of the Ford Motor Company of France. Ford is establishing a chain of subsidiaries in Europe and American investors have joined in the rush to buy shares in them.

Lycoming Mfg. Expands.

The Lycoming Manufacturing Company, subsidiary of the Auburn Automobile Company, is erecting a $500,000 factory at its Williamsport, Pa., plant to be used exclusively for the manufacture of aircraft engines. The structure, which will be 1,350 feet long and 80 feet wide, containing 108,000 square feet of floor space, will be completed and ready for operations shortly after April 15.

Leather Market Firmer.

Slightly improved inquiry for various grades of leather was evident during the last week, with firmer undertone noted in raw stock markets. In some quarters the opinion was expressed that the market was close to bottom and that an upward swing in the demand with a consequent betterment in prices can be expected shortly. Side upper leather buyers were reported as quietly placing more business during the week. Shoe manufacturers are operating their plants in efforts to get early spring deliveries out on time. In certain parts of New England overtime factory schedules are in effect.

Slab Zinc Stocks Lower.

Stocks of slab zinc decreased in February from 45,418 tons on February 1 to 40,420 at the end of the month, the American Zinc Institute, Inc., reports. Production in the month was 48,154 tons, against shipments of 52,952.

All Farmers Not Clamoring For "Relief"

By B. C. FORBES

IN THE MIDDLEWEST, March 16.—Don't imagine that all farmers are bankrupt. That idea is a myth.

Another myth is that all farmers are clamoring for Congress to hand them out "relief."

I have talked with many Iowans and Nebraskans, with farmers, with bankers, with merchants, with manufacturers, with lawyers, with farm loan bankers, with utility men, with city officials, with live-stock dealers, with elevator owners, with editors, with packers, with one state governor, with, in short, all classes. Here is the gist of their testimony, testimony which has been all but unanimous:

IT HAS not been easy to make money at farming in recent years. There have been times when, in certain sections, it has been practically impossible to avoid losses.

But the truth, by and large, is that competent farmers have been able, generally speaking, to make a living. And in a great many instances they have been able to make at least a modest amount of money. Some of the best of them, by employing strictly business methods, have actually made a lot of money, a very high return on their invested capital.

McNary-Haugenism has not been clamorously demanded by the best class of farmers. They have pinned little faith on any governmental aid of a drastic nature.

THE loudest complaint has come from the less competent farmers, men who probably would not have made any shining success in any other line of business, and farming, after all, has to be handled in a business-like way if it is to be profitable. And it has come from politicians anxious to win the plaudits of the farmer. Indeed, one is repeatedly told that the political noise has been much louder than the agricultural noise.

Relatively little real help is now commonly expected from Washington. Curiously, when you ask what Congress ought to do, you nearly always get the reply, "Well, I don't exactly know." There certainly is no unanimity of opinion on this point.

Price fixing, originally widely demanded, is now recognized as impracticable.

THE best now generally hoped for is: Some tariff increases to keep out commodities not produced at home; the freer granting of credit to farmers through governmental advances; liberal federal expenditures to improve inland water transportation and for road building; and perhaps some scheme to organize and finance co-operative marketing, although there is diversity of opinion on the actual value of this last.

Responsible men, entirely in sympathy with the farmers, have declared emphatically: "The sooner Washington is eliminated from the picture, the better. False hopes have been raised. When these are dropped then those who have been relying on them will come to earth and buckle in to working out their own troubles."

IOWA has been through hard times unquestionably. But she is nearer the edge of the woods than at any time since the post-war collapse. Authoritative opinion is that the outlook is now encouraging. Corn has been bringing what are described as fairly good prices. And corn fed to live stock has brought still better returns during the last year or more.

Nebraska has enjoyed better conditions during the last two years. Gov. Weaver tells me that he regards the outlook throughout the state as reasonably good, and he agrees that it is poor policy to exaggerate to the rest of the world the unfavorable side of the picture.

CERTAIN it is that there is no scarcity of loanable money in the Omaha territory. The head of one institution tells me he has been offered millions he could not put out advantageously. Leading eastern insurance companies and other concerns having extensive investment funds have been quite active in seeking attractive outlets for money in this section.

Nebraska's bank deposit guarantee law which the writer opposed when it was first proposed has turned out as could have been easily foreseen, namely disastrously. It has broken down. How to junk it is now being considered by the Legislature.

Man-made laws which run counter to economic law or counter to human nature don't pan out.

J. & L. COMPANY SENDS LARGE TOW SOUTH

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

THE Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation has sent its seventy-fifth tow of steel products south. It comprised 10 barge loads, or approximately 8,000 tons. To have moved the same tonnage by rail would have required 200 cars.

The use of the rivers to supplement railroad service was pretty limited in 1921, when the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation, following a very complete survey by W. T. Mossman, director of publicity, saw in river movement of its products, one certain means of retaining distant accounts, built up by years of effort and service in competition with other steel manufacturers who had a more favorable plant location from the standpoint of railroad freight rates.

THE Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation was not the first to use the inland waterways for distnat shipment of steel products, as the American Steel & Wire Co., made fairly regular shipments of its products to Memphis, Tenn., more than 30 years ago, but it was responsible for a genuine revival of the use of rivers by Pittsburgh district steel companies and was the first of them to inaugurate regular service of that sort. Incidentally, this organization which made regular monthly shipments during 1927 and 1928, with its seventy-fifth tow is starting on two shipments a month.

THE Ohio River will be completely canalized before the end of this year and even greater use of it in the transportation of steel products by Pittsburgh and Wheeling district mills is to be expected. A constant stage of water means that the river will be navigable the year round instead of about six months each year as has been the case.

In 1928, fully 300,000 tons of steel went south by river from Pittsburgh and Wheeling mills which could not have been shipped profitably by rail on account of the freight charges. It will not pay to go bearish on the Pittsburgh steel industry with the rivers providing a means of keeping down transportation charges on incoming coal and outgoing finished products, the latter moving at a saving of almost 60 per cent as compared with rail charges.

GEORGE R. HANN has added another company to those of which he is a director. He now is on the board of the Mackintosh, Hemphill Co., this city, the country's oldest manufacturers of rolling mills and rolls, having succeeded John Chalfant, trust officer of the Colonial Trust Co.

Officers of this company have been re-elected. They are H. V. Blaxter, chairman, F. H. Moyer, president, F. C. T. Daniels, vice president; W. C. Rice, treasurer D. H. Baum, secretary; Howard C. Paul, assistant treasurer and comptroller.

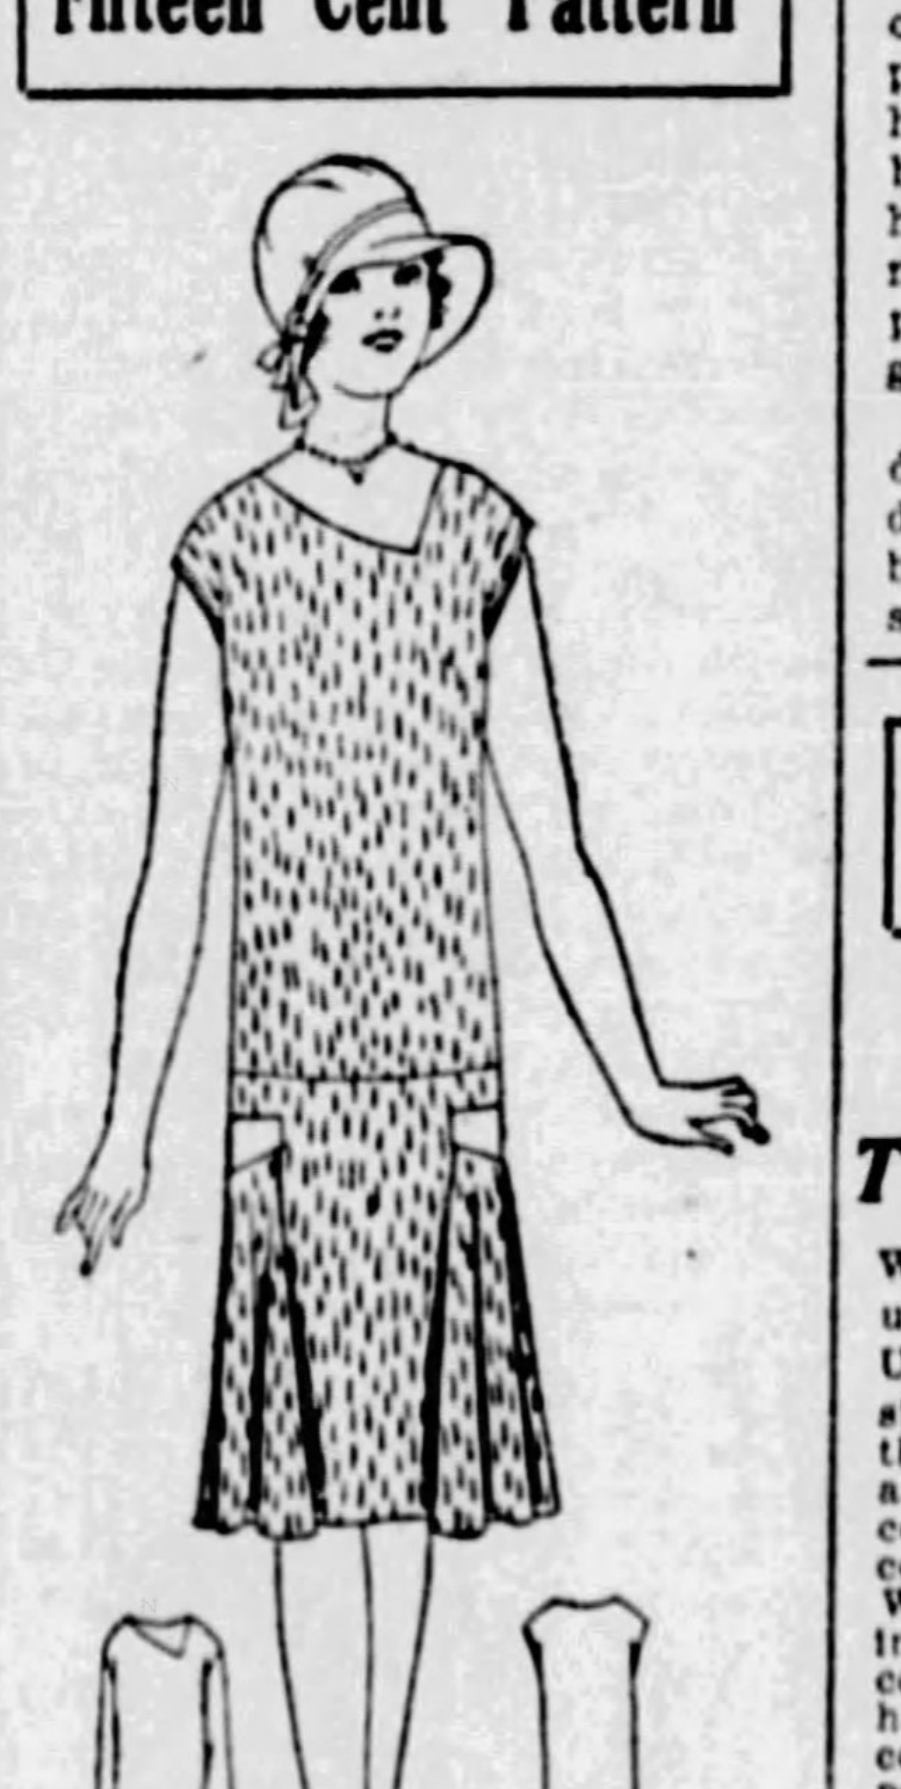
The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern



A CHARMING FROCK FOR JUNIOR-MISSES

The triangular neck as ever popular, is featured in this style. Flare panels topped by facings that form smart pockets trim the front of the skirt sections. The sleeve may be short, in cap effect as pictured in the large view, or it may be made with the wrist length portion, and finished with a band cuff. Printed crepe with facings of plain crepe is here pictured. This is also a good model for printed lawn, and for crepe and crepe de chine.

The pattern is cut in four sizes: 14, 16, 18 and 20 years. To make the dress for a 16-year size as pictured in the large view will require three yards of 40-inch material. If made with long sleeve portions 3½ yards will be required. For trimming as illustrated ¼ yard of contrasting material is required.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

MANY DRY AGENTS OFFER PLANS FOR TEMPERANCE

Many prohibition enforcement officers in various parts of the United States, it is curious and interesting to note, have written to enter plans in the Hearst $25,000 Temperance Prize Contest, as is quite within their supposed rights as free citizens.

Yet in each instance the enforcement officer makes the request that his name be suppressed "or else I'll lose my job!" In one case 10 government agents combined to send in a plan from a region which has been notorious in the news because of rum and beer-running and gang murders of the "racketeers."

Now comes Donald A. McDonald, first prohibition director for the state of Washington and the Alaska territory, who no longer fears for his job, since he is a practicing attorney of Seattle, to say in an interview accorded the Harst newspapers, that his experience proves prohibition is not the will of the people and is more harmful as a legal palliative than it is beneficial.

"Too Drastic"

Mr. McDonald says with frankness:

"Mr. Hearst's $25,000 Temperance Prize Contest is one of the greatest strides yet taken toward the solution of the liquor question, I think.

"It would be preposterous for anyone to assert that the situation is at all satisfactory. If for no other reason, present conditions would constitute an alarming menace because of the way that corruption has spread through our law enforcement agencies as a direct result of the dry law.

"The whole trouble, I feel, is that the country acted prematurely. We weren't ready for anything so drastic. It should have been done by degrees. It might have been accomplished if we had adopted a light wines and beer measure and then embarked on an intensive educational campaign. After two or three decades of this, we might have been ready for prohibition.

"As it is now, many of our leading citizens feel that prohibition is not the will of the majority—that it was simply the outgrowth of war-time hysteria. They do not feel that violation of the prohibition law involves any moral turpitude and the result tends to breed disrespect for all laws.

"The Hearst temperance prize contest, stimulating intelligent discussion of the prohibition problem, is of inestimable value. I sincerely hope it will bring about a solution of the whole question."

Other expressions of opinion on the Hearst $25,000 temperance prize contest are subjoined:

Daniel C. Murphy

Daniel C. Murphy, California state senator, San Francisco:

"To evolve a plan that will achieve temperance through a substitute for prohibition, as Mr. Hearst commendably proposes, will be to remove one of the greatest evils of our day. That evil has been brought about by prohibition.

"People are drinking under prohibition. They are drinking liquor of concentrated power and doubtful quality, because that sort of commodity is easier and more profitable for the bootleggers to handle. And the drinking of this bootleg stuff is infinitely more harmful than the bulkier and milder beers and wines which people would drink if they could get them.

"No thinking person would doubt that something must be done to rid us of the evils prohibition has brought. I am glad to see that Mr. Hearst is leading public opinion along a way that offers high hope for that end."

Julius Miller

Julius Miller, president of the borough of Manhattan, New York:

"To say that prohibition is a failure is merely to repeat the obvious. Any alert citizen knows that prohibition has not prohibited, and that it has brought upon us conditions probably worse than in the days before the Eighteenth Amendment.

"Therefore I think any plan such as Mr. Hearst's temperance prize contest should be welcomed as a means of showing the way to a system of thoughtful moderation."

PARK EMPLOYE HELD IN THEFT

Accused of having embezzled $9,700 from the funds of the National Amusement Park Company, Eary Hoedle, of 914 Phineas street, North Side, will be arraigned before Alderman Thomas Flanigan Tuesday afternoon. He was arrested yesterday on complaint of Morris Unger, with offices at 206 Keystone Building, one of the park owners.

Unger, in his information, charges that on July 4, and on other occasions, Hoedle, an employe of the park, embezzled sums of money with which he had been entrusted. Hoedle was released on bail pending the hearing.

W. Va. Man Amnesia Victim in Colorado

GREELEY, Col., March 16.—(AP.)—Apparently a victim of amnesia, an elderly well-dressed man was removed from an eastbound train here yesterday and treated at a hospital.

The victim, who carried letters addressed to A. D. Neill, president of the Warren Timber company, Warren, Pa., was unable to recall his name, although he responded readily when addressed as "Mr. Neill."

WARREN, Pa., March 16.—(AP.)—A. D. Neill, reported from Greeley, Col., as an apparent victim af amnesia, resides at Nottingham, W. Va., according to officials of the Warren Timber Company, which maintains offices here. Neill was said to have spent the winter on the West coast.

Thumb Saves Life Of Bandit Victim

WHEELING, W. Va., March 16.—(AP.)—Asad Marbon, 47, proprietor of a dry goods store here, credits his thumb with having saved his life, and incidentally his bank roll. Maroon, alone in his store, was approached by a young bandit who demanded money at the point of a revolver. The storekeeper parted with a roll of bills and also a pocketbook containing $3 in change, but, as the bandit turned to leave, snatched back his roll. The robber pulled the trigger, but Maroon grasped the gun and his thumb caught under the descending hammer. The bandit fled, taking the pocketbook and the $3.

Sign This Petition and Help to Cut Taxes

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

To the Congress of the United States:

We, the undersigned, respectfully urge that the Congress of the United States give immediate consideration to the proposition that there be a downward revision of all income taxes on all earned incomes such as salaries or fees, or commissions for personal services. We urge this because of the many instances where wage or fee or commission earners sometimes have just a few years of good incomes and prior to and after that period have substantially less incomes. Their period of better earnings which might give the average wage earner a chance to accumulate some capital is heavily taxed and they seldom have a new opportunity for the accumulation of savings which might tend to make more useful citizens of them.

Labor in general, lawyers, doctors, architects, clerical workers, salesmen, dentists, engineers, journalists, accountants, actors, motion picture actors, singers, musicians, and all the other professional people are in the same plight in the matter of earned income, as distinguished from earnings on capital, and, since they represent a great percentage of the citizenry of the country, we beg the gravest consideration of this proposition. Each signer below hereby enrolls as a member of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph League for the Downward Revision of Taxes on earned incomes and will work with that newspaper toward the end stated.

Permission is hereby granted the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph to list the signer in the proper Labor, Clerical or Professional Division of the said League for presentation of our signatures to the United States Congress for the stated purpose.

The signer is not obliged to make any kind of contribution or to do anything except to give his moral support to this movement.

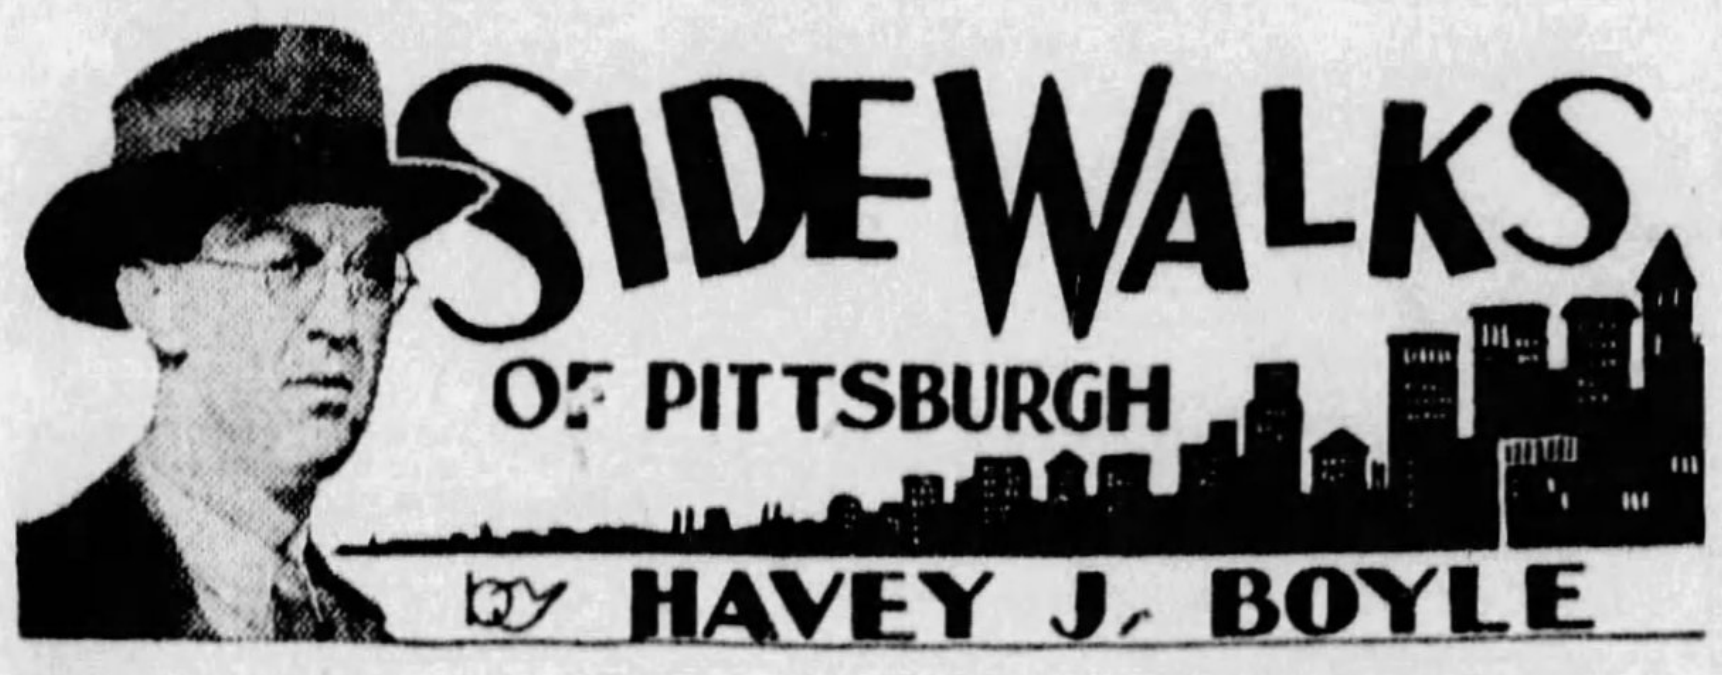
LIBERTY SCHOOL DECLARED INADEQUATE



SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

HE IS between 35 and 40, of medium height, and inclined to heaviness. His hair shows a streak or so of gray. A short mustache is becoming. His eyes are clear blue. He achieves neatness in dress without showing any signs of study in this regard. He has a naturalness—a mixture of justifiable pride and becoming modesty. His name is Billy Brock—and all he did was to fly across the ocean with a partner, Eddie Schlee. You remember how we read of their hop-off, of the anxious stories while they rode through the night through fog and ice, and how at last they landed safely on the other side.

Billy Brock was in Pittsburgh to attend the airplane show. He is now a salesman, selling the kind of ship he and Schlee used in making their historic flight. I have been close (I mean close in the sense of feet and inches) to such gentlemen as Dempsey, Ruth, Tunney and a few others, but I never got quite the emotional thrill from such propinquity as I got out of studying and talking a few moments with this youngish Billy Brock, who defied death successfully in a flight across the ocean.

By now his story is an old one. He took off when three other planes were making ready. Two of those planes and their occupants were lost. The third didn't get very far before it was forced to land, a failure. There were moments, Mr. Brock said the other evening, when he couldn't help but feel that the venture was going to lose—those periods when there was nothing but ice and fog to cut through. But it was not his story, so much as the fact that here was a man in good health who had stepped into a plane to take a ride with death. I thought, too, as he talked, of how many, many centuries from now his name and picture will be in the history books and encyclopedia. There is a kick to being so close to a man of—consider this—timeless and endless fame.

WHAT sounded suspiciously like the cat's meow caused Sergt. David Cole, of the Frankstown Avenue Police Station, to look up from his desk. The sound was authentic—there stood a cat in the doorway—a cat that was lacking in that placidity peculiar to its kind. Sergt. Cole became interested, put the cat in a comfortable spot in the cellar, and sent for a bottle of milk. It was only a few hours later that Sergt. Cole discovered when he went to visit his friend, the cat, that he had on his hands four kittens and a cat.

What may be described as a ripple of merriment ran through various car barns the other day when the street car boys received information that besides such small duties as operating one-man street cars, they could put in whatever spare time remaining by taking orders for certain little home conveniences in the form of heaters, waffle irons and lamps.

I WANT A NICE FLOOR LAMP AND A----!

Thus the street car boys envisioned future operations. Says a lady passenger: "I'll take one transfer to the Fifth, Shady and Penn line, one weekly pass, one Sunday pass, three tokens—and would you wrap me up a nice parlor lamp, and a heater or so? I see you're all out of potatoes."

AND by the way, the street car boys will be shocked to read a complaint sent in by one who signed himself Spy 408-769-A, digressing from the usual custom of signing "Indignant Citizen," or "Taxpayer." The complaint sets forth that street car motormen nearly always start moving on the yellow light instead of waiting for the red. Is this true?

The Art Society closed a successful season last night with a song recital by John Charles Thomas. Carnegie Hall does not often hold so enthusiastic an audience, but every bit of applause was well deserved.

Thomas was a popular baritone in musical comedy before his praiseworthy ambition carried him into European opera houses and the concert field. Varied experiences have now moulded him into a singer of unusual force, and an interpreter who ranks very high. His voice has limitations; the lower register, though weak, is cleverly managed, but the higher tones are vibrant and beautiful indeed. Not only his well studied characterizations, but an almost flawless diction, enables his audience to enjoy all he offers.

The program, too, was well chosen, and included many songs new to the concert halls hereabout. "Star Vicino" might have been simplified and thereby improved. Marx's "Prayer" was most imposing, the composer being one of the more popular German song writers of the early part of this century. It took many years for Bungert to find his way to Pittsburgh. Lilli Lehmann attempted to popularize his music, some of it set to the gentle poetry of Carmen Sylva, but it remains shamefully unknown, which was proven by the fine song on last night's program. Thomas parodied any obese soprano in his "Schmied" and thereby overlooked Brahms.

He has learned a trick or two from Chaliapin, for there were resemblances to the great Russian in the French songs. Rarely have we heard so fine a rendition of any operatic air on a concert platform as his Massenet. All of the English songs were well sung, and here Thomas showed his sensitive delineation of many types. Among his encores was a most musical "Toreador" song from "Carmen" and Grieg's masterly "A Swan."

Lester Hodges played accompaniments and a group of tiresome piano numbers. De Falla's dance is losing its interest after so many hearings, but the Gluck music remains fresh in any arrangement. The Gluck-Brahms Gavotte came as encore.

NEW DRY ACT EFFECTIVE IN FALL

The effect of the drastic Jones law for punishment of violators of the National prohibition act, which is not expected to be felt greatly until next fall, is not exciting the legal fraternity of Allegheny County.

The organization yesterday in New York of a committee of lawyers for the avowed purpose of educating New York juries so that they will refuse to convict under the Jones law has aroused comment, but little concern, among lawyers here.

They profess to see little to be gained in argument before juries, because of restriction upon argument as to the law or legal penalties, but are of the opinion that public sentiment against the severe penalties of the Jones law, heightened by any organized movement, will be reflected in juries.

There is a general opinion among lawyers here that a different situation exists in this Federal district, drawing its juries largely from rural counties of Western Pennsylvania affected by a dry sentiment, than in metropolitan New York, with a prevailing wet sentiment.

The Jones law will apply only to offenses committed after March 2, when the law became effective by approval of former President Coolidge, according to legal opinion.

A few such offenses may result in indictments by the grand jury convening at Erie Monday, but the first large batch will appear before the May grand jury sitting here. Although some pleas are expected to be disposed of before summer, trials will mainly go over untill fall.

There is a general opinion among lawyers here that the Jones law was designed chiefly to reach aliens, regarded by lawyers as constituting the majority of offenders against the prohibition law. Their deportation may follow first offenses if the law is strictly enforced. Native first offenders are liable to five-year terms and $10,000 fines.

HURT IN WRECK, GETS $15,000

William H. Dunn, Jr., 34, 7016 Hamilton avenue, has been awarded a verdict of $15,000 in Common Pleas Court against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, following trial of his suit before Judge Frank P. Patterson for injuries he received in a freight wreck at Tunnelton, near Blairsville, March 27, 1927.

Dunn was employed as a brakeman. He was hurled from his position in the caboose, he said, when the train made a sudden stop as a result of an engine rod dropping. He suffered permanent injuries to his back and is compelled to wear a steel brace. He is married and has a son aged 8.

Townships at Odds On Road Paving Cost

Although the county is ready to let contracts for the widening and improving of McNeilly road from Library road to West Liberty avenue, Dormont, the work is being held up because Baldwin and Mt. Lebanon Township officials cannot agree on how much of the cost they will pay. The project will probably reach $245,000 and the county has offered to pay half of this amount and let the remainder be divided by the townships. Officials from both communities met with the county commissioners yesterday and the commissioners suggested the township officials meet again and see if they would not pay larger shares.

ARE THESE PITTSBURGH GIRLS TYPICAL AMERICANS?

CORDELIA MARGUERITE M'LENAHAN

Miss McLenahan has been entered in the Sun-Telegraph-Smart Set Typical American Girl Contest. She is a graduate of Wellesley College and does not smoke.

MARY LOUISE HERSHEY

This Irwin (Pa.) girl is a student at University of Michigan and loves dogs and birds. She plays hockey and basketball, dances well, and is popular.

MARGARET KILDARE

Miss Kildare lives in Beltzhoover and works in downtown Pittsburgh. She is 17 years old, 5 feet 4 inches tall, and plays the piano. Is she "typical?"

TYPICAL GIRL SEARCH ON

Here are just three of the many nominees entered in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph-Smart Set Magazine Typical American Girl Contest. They demonstrate what a wide divergence of types is to be considered in this Quest.

As each photograph and letter comes in, the Quest Editor wonders if this is the Typical Pittsburgh Girl who will go to New York to compete with 16 other girls for the honor of being called the Typical American Girl.

FINE REPRESENTATIVES

A friend tells us that Miss McLenahan is "a splendid representative of American young womanhood in character, intellect, appearance, poise and general deportment. She does not smoke or use alcoholic beverages."

Miss Hershey rated "A," the highest possible mark, in health and hygiene upon her entrance in Michigan. She has permission to smoke or drink, if she cares to. During her summer vacations, she usually has a job.

Her mother, Mrs. H. D. Hershey, writes the Quest Editor that "Louise seems to enjoy the company of most boys but has not set her affections upon any one she says.

Mrs. M. McCormick writes that Miss Kildare, a working girl, is a lover of all outdoor sports, dancing, swimming, hiking, and, especially, baseball. She loves good music and plays the violin and piano.

LETTERS PILE UP

Pictures, letters, suggestions; all pile up on the Quest Editor with every mail. Somewhere in this pile of letters and photographs from the Pittsburgh district, or in those coming in, he is sure he will find the Typical American Girl.

Some one of the girls in Pittsburgh may be she. The Quest shall go on until she is found. Do you know her? If so, send us her picture and a description of her activities and qualities, physical and intellectual, at once.

The New York trip will be a holiday calculated by able authorities to satisfy the most exacting demands of the Typical American Girl.

Rules of the Quest

1. This is a selective search, not a motion picture popularity or beauty contest. It is an honest and sincere effort to find the Typical American Girl.

2. A National committee of judges appointed by Smart Set, will make the final decision and award the $5,000 prize in New York at a date set by the publisher of Smart Set Magazine. This committee is composed of Rosamond Pinchot Gaston, Vina Delmar, Jesse L. Lasky, John Golden, Guy Hoff and Margaret Sangster, editor of Smart Set and a representative of the Hearst newspapers.

3. A local committee of judges appointed by each co-operating newspaper will select the regional winner.

4. A candidate cannot propose herself. She must be proposed by some individual or some club or organization. This proposal must be sent to the Quest Editor of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

5. Each candidate's proposal must be accompanied by her photograph, biographical sketch, listing age, weight, height, coloring, education and her social, business and athletic activities. Her qualifications will be considered by the Quest Editor of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, who will notify her if she has been selected.

6 The minimum age is 17.

CHURCH, SAME PASTOR, TO OBSERVE 22D ANNIVERSARY

The rounding out of 22 years of its existence, in which its membership has grown from 56 to 435 communicants, will be celebrated tomorrow by the Emanuel Lutheran Church, Bellevue.

Forty-seven members of the congregation which formerly worshiped in Juniata street, North Side, established the Bellevue church, along with a few residents of that community, in 1907. Of the original group, 28 remain. Many of them will speak at the services tomorrow night, which will be of a reminiscent character.

The Rev. Benjamin F. Hankey has been pastor of the church since the beginning, and according to members, the growth of the congregation has been largely due to his untiring efforts. He will make the anniversary address at the morning service. A special musical program will be given.

A parish house was dedicated in 1927 as an adjunct to the church. Plans are now being considered for enlarging the auditorium because of the increased membership.

GAS STATION LEASE HELD UP

The county commissioners have held up the leasing of county property at the west end of the Chartiers Creek bridge, to the Gulf Refining Company for a service station.

The company offered $100 a month for the property and asked for a ten year lease. The commissioners argued that the service station at that point might hinder traffic and before taking any action, decided to seek the opinion of McKees Rocks borough officials, in which community the station would be located.

Today's Flagism

Will Rogers Says

NEW YORK, March 16.

Yesterday was income tax paying day. There is going to be no attempt at humor, for it would be mighty forced. No two can agree on what is deductible. When it's made out, you don't know if you are a crook or a martyr.

It's made more liars out of the American people than golf, and this is a good time to bring up again the sales tax. Why don't we have it? Then when a thing is bought and paid for, you know the government got their tax for it.

States have gasoline tax and they collect it without any trouble, and we don't notice it. By the way, did you charge off money given to the Democratic campaign? You could, it's a legitimate charity. Not organized, but a charity nevertheless.

Yours, WILL.

A WHOLESALE ROMANCE.

AN interesting marital angle is established by the news that a young man is about to marry the west half of the Siamese twins.

"Bugs" Baer

He met the twins last year and fell in love with 50 per cent of them.

When he asked one to marry him, the other said, "Sure."

The legal crop of question marks on this romance will be numerous.

We envy the Don Juan with two sweethearts in his lap.

But we do not envy him when the minister asks, "Do you take this group of women for your lawful wedded wife "

He may claim that he is only marrying one. But you cannot convince us that he isn't committing bigamy.

Two minds with but a single thought is O plus K. A total of O. K.

But how about two hearts that beat as three?

And he is not going to get away with less than two engagement rings.

What makes the case all the stronger is that the young man is normal and is not an efficiency expert.

He fell in love with the nearest twin. Now he discovers that he has a splendid start for a harem.

There isn't a chance of him insinuating that the other sister has lived with them long enough.

If he hasn't got two wives then somebody needs a quick trip to the oculist.

They must be two different girls because they have two names.

Having two wives is not a bad idea provided that both of them are not in the same city.

In fact, even the writer's duplex personality may be guilty of a slight dash of polygamy.

In this morning's mail we got a letter from Leslie F. McGregor, attorney at law in San Francisco

Mr. McGregor wants to know what became of our former wife who once lived at 1075 California street, San Francisco.

For Mr. McGregor's benefit, we wish to state, devise and otherwise bequeath the information that we never had a former wife.

Also that our wife never had a former husband.

And that our baby never had former parents.

We do not know who is stringing Mr. McGregor. But the next time he goes for a sleigh-ride he should wait until there is snow on the ground.

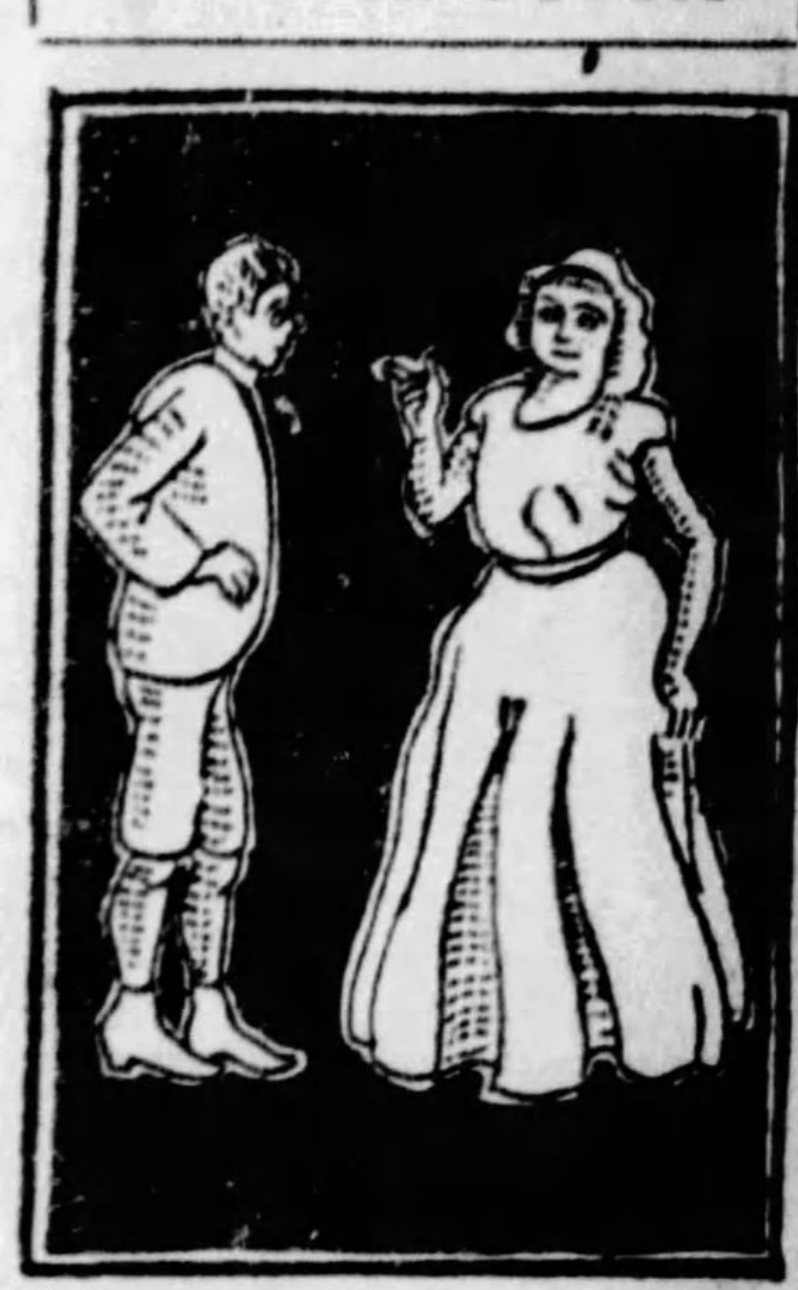
HOW TO ENTERTAIN PARLOUR GUESTS



Editor's Note—Today we conclude "True Courage," the playlet reprinted from "The Home Speaker and Elocutionist." We trust our readers have enjoyed this drama, which not only entertains but teaches a moral lesson which is so often lost sight of in this busybody age.

TRUE COURAGE

Act III.

What Has Gone Before—Ralph Burton told his cousin Laura that Frank Sterling was a coward, and asked her never to speak to him again. Laura defends Frank.

LAURA—Here is an account in the morning paper: "Great fire; baby left in upper room; ladder much charred; firemen too heavy to go up; boy came forward, ran up; seized infant; descended safely; gave it into arms of frantic mother."

RALPH—Is the boy's name mentioned?

L.—Ay! Here it is! And who do you think it is?

R.—Do not keep me in suspense.

L.—(Triumphantly.) Well, then, he's the boy whom you said was afraid of knocking a chip off your hat—Frank Sterling!

R.—(Startled.) No! Let me see the paper for myself. . . There's the name, sure enough. . . printed in capital letters.

L.—(Sarcastically.) But how much more illustrious an achievement it would have been for him to knock a chip off your hat. Risking his life to save a CHIP of a baby was a small matter in comparison.

R.—(Crestfallen.) Don't laugh at me any more. Frank Sterling is no coward. I'll ask his pardon this very day.

L.—Will you? My dear Ralph, you will in that case show that you are not without courage.

The End.

Waiting List Indicates Mothers' Aid Fund Need

Mrs. Marcus Spiro, president of the Mothers' Assistance Fund of Allegheny County, in a statement, has declared it is essential that the full $3,497,522, provided in the bill of Senator Frank J. Harris, be granted for the state fund if the families needing assistance are to be cared for under the provisions of the law.

Mrs. Spiro pointed out that on May 31, 1928, there were 5,300 families, with 17,000 children, receiving aid through the fund throughout the state, and that on the waiting list, unable to receive the assistance, were 1,000 families, with 6,000 children. The aid is $20 a month for the eldest child and $10 a month for each additional child.

In Allegheny County there are approximately 850 families, with 2,550 children, receiving help of the Mothers' Assistance Fund, which is extended only to families the father of which is dead or permanently insane.

This activity is one of the most worthy kind and it seems deplorable that, with funds now available, there must be a waiting list. Mothers struggling to keep their families intact, it is said, have to wait two years as it is, so it seems certain that the amount asked for is not too great, when it is considered that the $2,750,000 appropriated by the last session of the Legislature has been found insufficient.

Lewis Shows Unfairness Of Four-Cent Tax on Gas

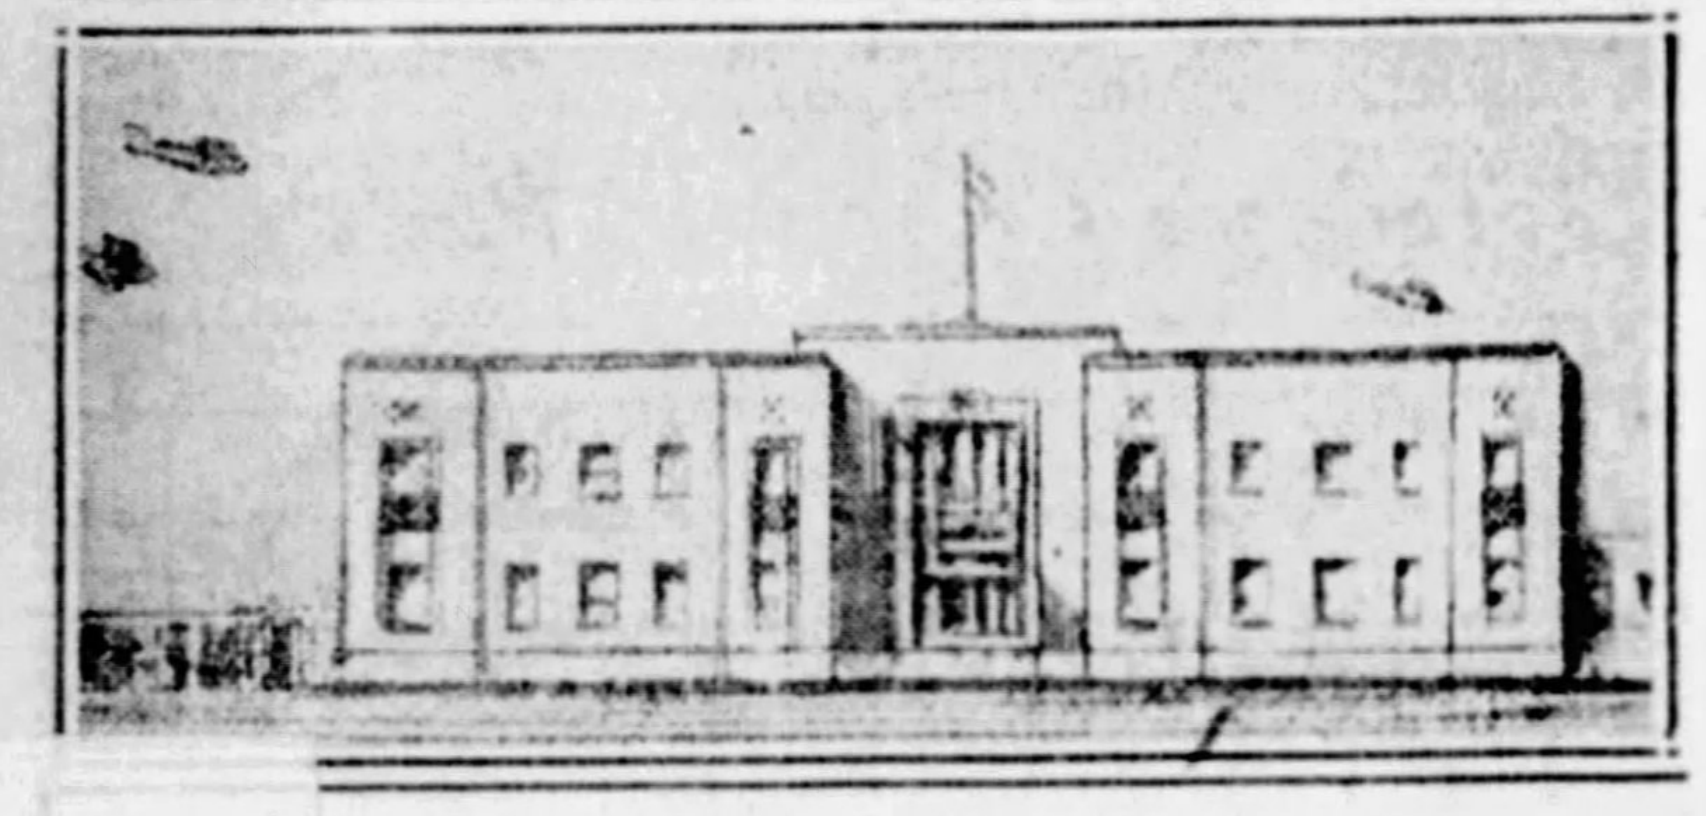
State Treasurer Samuel S. Lewis, in an address in Altoona, charged that the state highway program has been fixed with the express idea of making the gasoline tax four cents, and that ultimately five cents, or even six or seven, would be asked. It originally was two cents and now is three because of an "emergency" addition of one cent, which would expire this year unless renewed or increased by the present session of the Legislature.

Mr. Lewis stated that legislators are being handed a "sop" in the proposal for increased highway mileage in their districts to make them complacent about the four-cent gas tax. As an indication of the unfairness of making motorists pay for the proposed taking over of certain city streets and county bridges by the state highway department, he said that Philadelphia motorists would pay $1,291,386 more than they do now and would receive only $382,400 a year more in highway maintenance than they do at present.

Then another question arises. Would the cities and counties, relieved of certain street and bridge maintenance, reduce their taxation by the amount of the relief? The idea gives us a laugh. The result would be adding to the motorist's gas burden without relieving him of any property or personal taxation.

The First Airport Hotel

Oakland Has It. No Other On Earth.



OAKLAND HOTEL "FOR FLIERS ONLY"

The ONLY thing of its kind is always interesting. And when the "ONLY THING" like the airport hotel of Oakland, Cal., applies to the newest, most important development, FLYING becomes all the more important.

The City of Oakland, Cal., across the great harbor from San Francisco and the Golden Gate, already one of the greatest airports in the world, goes ahead with the usual California energy.

This picture shows the "air" hotel, adjoining the airport, built for the use of those flying in and out of Oakland's magnificent landing field.

Wisely the hotel has been arranged so that it can be enlarged as needed. It has now large dining rooms, 37 bedrooms with baths, for flying passengers that may care to stay over night after landing, or to spend the night before hopping off.

The wise flier landing in Oakland will stay a day or two at the airport hotel and thoroughly see Oakland, one of the most interesting and important cities on this continent, with a future that no ordinary imagination could exaggerate.

Flying at the Oakland airport is increasing not at any ordinary rate, but at the rate of 1,000 per cent a year.

From Oakland the fliers go east to the Atlantic, north and south along the Pacific coast, west to far-off Hawaii, as far from the coast of California as London is from the coast of New York, although some Americans do not realize that.

Every intelligent American makes it a point to go to California. And many of the most intelligent make it a point to STAY THERE after they arrive. When your turn comes, don't fail to see Oakland, the rapidly growing city on the Bay. Money wisely invested there, by the way, in well-chosen business corners, or even one corner, would be money wisely invested.

This picture of a fine hotel, 110 feet long, will be soon replaced by another picture of a much BIGGER Oakland airport hotel.

In days to come great airport hotels will have landing fields on their roofs, passengers going up in the elevator to settle down and fly in a few hours across this continent or across an ocean.

Then this picture of the original airport hotel will have historical interest. Men will look at it and say, "That was the beginning."

And the people of Oakland may be proud that the airport hotel business began in their city.

Tales That Are Told

True to Type

WHEN Joe Goofus left school he went with a high resolve to to be a captain of industry within two years. But he soon discovered it was not as easy as he had expected. He had a variety of jobs, lasting only a few months at each. Somehow he did not seem able to stick.

Despondently he scanned the newspaper advertisements for an opening.

At 30 he heard the managing director of his firm say: "Mr. Goofus, we no longer need your services."

Again he tramped the streets.

At 40 it was the same old story. He shut the manager's office with the words ringing in his ears: "You are no longer connected with our firm."

Then, at 55, silver-haired and still roaming, he wandered into a film studio.

"You want a job, do you?" said the film director. "Fine; you're engaged at 50 a week. You're just the type to portray a successful business man!"

Just a Suggestion

"I SEE that you make your own pork-pies," said the angry customer as he was leaving the ham-and-beef shop.

"We do, sir," answered the man behind the counter, who was under the impression that he was probably about to receive a flattering testimonial.

"Well," continued the customer, "I should like to make a suggestion, if I may."

"Any suggestion you care to make will be welcome, sir," smiled the other. "More than welcome."

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

ON Long Island, New York, they raise a lot of ducks. Just acres and acres of ducks, right alongside of swell estates and expensive towns.

There was a rich doctor had a big estate out there, and he called in a lawyer to get some advice.

"I want to make my neighbor on the east of me quit raising ducks," says the doctor. "Can't we get him out somehow?"

"I don't know. It ain't a nuisance to raise ducks on Long Island, you know."

"Well, we can get him for slander, then. His ducks yell 'Quack!' at me from morning till night."

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

PEOPLE smile condescendingly when they speak of Mrs. Weaver.

She's a waspish little woman and so stupid in comparison with her brainy husband and three clever children. A greedy, selfish, jealous creature, who thinks only of getting her own way.

AND GETS IT.

Perfectly amazing how a woman like that can pull four brainy adults around by their noses, bully them, harass them, shape their lives to her mean little ends. Yet she does it.

SHE DOES IT BECAUSE SHE KNOWS WHAT SHE WANTS AND GOES AFTER IT.

They have 10 times as much brain as she has, but they haven't one thousandth part of her determination. So her small, hard desire cuts through their aimless wills like a knife through cheese.

Everywhere you see things like that happening — stupid people dominating brilliant people, mean people getting the best of fine people.

"There's no justice in this world," you sigh. Sometimes it makes you mad. Sometimes it makes you sad.

You think God should do something about it.

Sometimes it happens to you. When it does you're apt to acquire a large does of self-pity.

Time and again some irritating relative has wheedled or nagged you into doing some foolish thing against which your good sense rebelled. Or some sly sharper person has persuaded you to take a rash step which you grievously regretted. Yet you knew all the time that you shouldn't.

You look at such people with rage and contempt. How do they manage it?

THEY GET THEIR WAY BECAUSE THEY KNOW WHAT THEY WANT AND THEY GO AFTER IT.

They may have "single-track minds," and to you such a mind may seem paltry. But they get somewhere on their single track and you, with your superior brain, wander confusedly along your many tracks.

You have heard that old expression, "THE STRENGTH OF WEAKNESS."

They overlook the fact that weak people just because they are weak are often more stubborn and tenacious than strong people.

WEAK PEOPLE FOCUS THEIR ENERGY.

STRONG PEOPLE DON'T THINK IT NECESSARY, AND PAY DEARLY FOR THEIR FOOLISHNESS.

There is an old story about a man who routed many enemies with the jaw bone of an ass.

There's a mighty truth in that story.

UPSETTING EARTH

By Garrett P. Serviss

"Have men of science ever made any study of the probable climate on the earth if its axis was at a right angle to the plane of its orbit around the sun instead of being set at an angle of 22½ degrees? And why do they say they are at a loss to know why it is set at this angle?—James Herschel, Cleveland, O."

THE effect upon climate that would be produced by making the earth's axis perpendicular to the ecliptic long ago was pointed out. Perhaps the most evident result would be the abolition of the change of seasons, which now characterizes the climates of the whole earth. If the axis stood upright there would be no change from winter to summer or vice versa. The tropics would disappear, since the sun having ceased to make alternate advances into the opposite hemispheres from the Equator it would no longer "turn" at latitude 23½ degrees, alternately north and south. It would remain exactly over the Equator always and day and night would be of equal length—12 hours each—everywhere on earth.

These things are evident if you study the upper figure in our diagram. The climate would be perpetually hot at and on each side of the equator; perpetually spring-like in the poleward parts of what are now the temperate zones, and perpetually wintry around the poles. It has sometimes been thought that this state of axial uprightness to the plane of the ecliptic actually exists on the planet Venus, but the matter is doubtful.

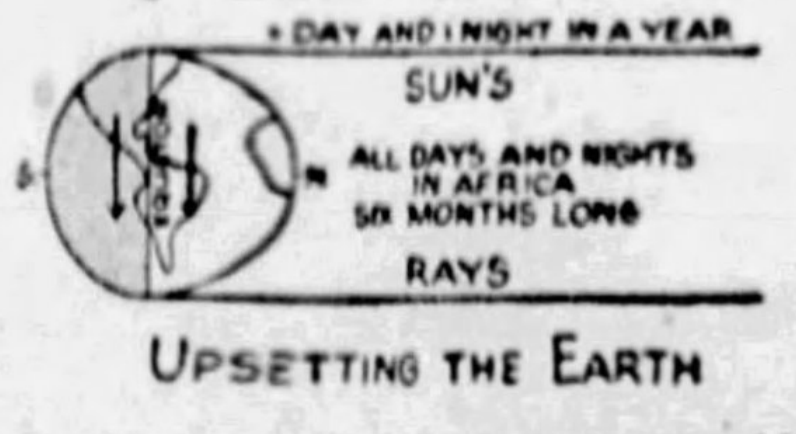
There is a singularly persistent notion getting publicity from time to time which affirms that at some remote period the axis of the earth was tipped completely over. If this were so the earth must have passed through the most extraordinary series of climatic revolutions. There must, for instance, have been a time when the axis lay in the plane of the ecliptic, a situation shown in the lower figure, where the axis is pictured as having shifted so that the North Pole has gone to Central Africa and the South Pole to the Pacific Ocean, while the Equator runs down the line of the American continents. The arrows show the direction of the daily rotation.



365 DAYS IN A YEAR
SUN'S
DAY AND NIGHT 12 HOURS EACH NO CHANGE OF SEASON
RAYS
N
S
1 DAY AND 1 NIGHT IN A YEAR
SUN'S
ALL DAYS AND NIGHTS IN AFRICA SIX MONTHS LONG
RAYS

UPSETTING THE EARTH

In this case day and night would each be of six months duration all over the earth, the change from one to the other being produced not by the earth's 24-hour rotation on its axis, but by its 12-month revolution around the sun. The sun would cross the equator twice a year, passing alternately over the North and the South Pole. The day and the year would be identical in length, differing only by the division of the day into a light and a dark half.

Bible Passages

"Praise the Lord"

(Psalm 147)

PRAISE ye the Lord: for it is good to sing praises unto our God; f[illegible] it is pleasant; and praise is co[illegible].

He [illegible]th the broken heart, and bindeth u[illegible] their wounds.

He telleth the number of the stars: he calleth them all by their names.

The Lord lifteth up the meek: he casteth the wicked down to the ground.

Sing unto the Lord with thanksgiving; sing praise upon the harp unto our God:

Who covereth the heaven with clouds, who prepareth rain for the earth, who maketh grass to grow upon the mountains.

He giveth to the beast his food, and to the young ravens which cry.

He delighteth not in the strength of the horse: he taketh not pleasure in the legs of a man.

The Lord taketh pleasure in them that fear him, in those that hope in his mercy.

Praise the Lord, O Jerusalem; praise thy God, O Zion.

For he hath strengthened the bars of thy gates; he hath blessed thy children within thee.

He maketh peace in thy borders, and filleth thee with the finest of the wheat.

He sendeth forth his commandment upon earth: his word runneth very swiftly.

He giveth snow like wool: he scattereth the hoarfrost like ashes.

He casteth forth his ice like morsels: who can stand before his cold?

He sendeth out his word, and melteth them: he causeth his wind to blow, and the waters flow.

He seweth his world unto Jacob, his statutes and his judgments unto Israel.

He hath not dealt so with any nation: and as for his judgments, they have not known them. Praise ye the Lord.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

Somewhere It Waits

SOMEWHERE it waits to greet your ear
With liquid accents, soft and low,
The voice that you have pined to hear,
Since, oh, so long ago!

The task that you have sought to do,
Some day beneath your hand will lie;
More clear your vision then, more true,
For empty years gone by.

Somewhere it waits, the sunlit isle
Your fancy deems too dear, too fair
For any land of earth; its smile
Will meet your gaze; somewhere.

Somewhere they wait, all lovely things
That feed the spirit's mounting fire:
Doubt not, for toil and love and wings
Must answer your desire!

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, March 16.—Window shopping in New York not only attracts bargain hunters but illustrious figures in all walks of life. Charles M. Schwab, Otto Kahn and Clarence Mackay are often seen idling in front of windows. Irvin Cobb is an indefatigable "window shopper."

Fortunes are spent daily in the free displays. So valuable is this form of art in attracting trade that many new shops devote two-thirds of their space to cavern-like foyers with their labyrinthine maze of mirrors and gorgeously trimmed windows. Most of them are modernistic.

One large store has more than 40 display windows which are changed every other day. Such artists as Norman Bel-Geddes are retained at huge salaries to supervise decorative effects. While New York sleeps, a vast army of window dressers prepare the optical feasts for next day.

In prowling around the other day I jotted down some of the gee-gaws that attracted the passers-by, and here they are: Cocktail napkins embroidered with amazing drinking designs spates with zipper fastenings; portable cellarettes that are perfectly equipped bars. And musical cocktail shakers.

A hall clock with a water-filled basin in which a turtle swims to the correct time; a trunk equipped with trapshooting and fly rod outfits; a lady's toilette outfit—$2,800; platinum monogrammed money grips—$150; a mechanical doll that sings "Home, Sweet Home," and a silk hat that conceals a quart flask.

A pipe rack with 52 various shaped pipes; diamond earrings fitting the curve of the ear; a traveling whisk broom with a silver flask on top; self-winding slide watches for golf; a tie clasp—$230; airplane costumes for ladies. And gorgeously plumed African parrots.

This gives you a slight idea of the run in window shopping in the metropolis, and is one of the reasons why most of us are just a couple of jumps ahead of the sheriff. And riding hard!

And inner circles of society are still discussing a bachelor dinner at last Christmas time in honor of one of the young favorites whose abstemious ways were frequently remarked. He had never touched intoxicants but was induced on this memorable evening to try out a cocktail. It smacked him for a home run. So much so he stretched what started as a convival evening into a week's toot. He lost his bride, his job, and is still whooping it up.

New York is one of those complex cities where one makes friends in one section, moves to another, and rarely sees them again. Last night I meet a man and wife who long ago lived in the same hotel where I lived. We were close companions. Then all of us moved. Like rain drops on a window we had run together—then vanished. If Eddie Guest cares for that one, it is all right with me. And New York being what it is, 10 years passed before we got together again.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

YOU are annoyed by the persons who are interested in tracing back their family history, perhaps necessary to give them memberships in certain organizations to which they wish to belong.

You say they have not achieved much if they must depend upon what their forefathers have done to have a standing in the community.

Often isn't your displeasure over such matters due to your not having a family history that goes back in a direct line to the early settlers of this country?

If your forebears took an important part in shaping affairs in the early stages of this country wouldn't you have a feeling of honor for them and a certain satisfaction yourself in knowing just what they did?

If they were men and women of honesty and integrity, trusted and honored by their fellow men of that time it surely is creditable to your family.

Of course it is easy for some to side-step their own duties to this country and society at the present time and become tiresome in alluding to what their ancestors did.

There should not be the feeling that a person whose ancestors were comparatively recent arrivals in this land is not entitled to full credit for what he has attained since coming over here.
